Implementing Interactive Learning Strategies in Higher Education Railean, Elena Aurel, 2024-08-01 Higher education faces the ongoing challenge of engaging students in successful lifelong learning despite rapidly evolving environments Traditional teaching methods need to be revised to prepare students for the complexities of modern society as they currently leave a gap between theory and practice To address this dilemma Implementing Interactive Learning Strategies in Higher Education offers a comprehensive framework and the latest empirical research to help educators address students diverse learning needs The book focuses on active and interactive learning strategies cognitive and metacognitive approaches and social emotional learning techniques It provides practical insights for educators across disciplines including adaptive learning strategies and innovative digital engagement methods

Community Archaeology and Heritage in Africa Peter R. Schmidt, Innocent Pikirayi, 2016-06-17 This volume provides new insights into the distinctive contributions that community archaeology and heritage make to the decolonization of archaeological practice Using innovative approaches the contributors explore important initiatives which have protected and revitalized local heritage initiatives that involved archaeologists as co producers rather than leaders These case studies underline the need completely reshape archaeological practice engaging local and indigenous communities in regular dialogue and recognizing their distinctive needs in order to break away from the top down power relationships that have previously characterized archaeology in Africa Community Archaeology and Heritage in Africa reflects a determined effort to change how archaeology is taught to future generations Through community based participatory approaches archaeologists and heritage professionals can benefit from shared resources and local knowledge and by sharing decision making with members of local communities archaeological inquiry can enhance their way of life ameliorate their human rights concerns and meet their daily needs to build better futures Exchanging traditional power structures for research design and implementation the examples outlined in this volume demonstrate the discipline s exciting capacity to move forward to achieve its potential as a broader more accessible and more inclusive field

The Promise of New Technologies in an Age of New Health Challenges A.J. Maeder, K. Ho, A. Marcelo, 2016-11-24 There is a changed emphasis in many health services with conventional pressures such as budget and workforce constraints combined with the indirect forces of social change and strategic direction bringing about the need for more flexible approaches for the longer term By enabling different care models and delivery channels telehealth offers demonstrably effective and sustainable solutions for issues such as access to and quality of care This book presents 18 papers delivered at the 5th Global Telehealth Conference held in Auckland New Zealand in November 2016 The theme chosen for Global Telehealth 2016 is The Promise of New Technologies in an Age of New Health Challenges and the papers included here cover a wide variety of topics from theoretical and abstract contributions through to discussions of practical projects and highly specific applied contributions The book also includes two invited papers which detail recent contributions to two global issues in which telehealth plays a major role universal health coverage and personal health monitoring With papers ranging in scope from computer assisted screening technology for diabetic retinopathy to behavior change through computer games this book will be of interest to all those involved in the design and provision of healthcare services

Languages, Identities and Intercultural Communication in South Africa and Beyond Russell H Kaschula, 2021-08-23 African countries and South Africa in particular being multilingual and multicultural societies make for exciting sociolinguistic and applied language analysis in order to tease out the complex relationship between language and identity This book applies sociolinguistic theory as well as critical language awareness and translanguaging with its many facets to various communicative scenarios both on the continent and in South Africa in an accessible and practical way Africa lends itself to such sociolinguistic analysis concerning language identity and intercultural communication This book reflects consciously on the North South debate and the need for us to create our own ways of interpretation emanating from the South and speaking back to the North and on issues that pertain to the South including southern Africa Aspects such as language and power language planning policy and implementation culture prejudice social interaction translanguage intercultural communication education gender and autoethnography are covered This is a valuable resource for students studying African sociolinguistics language and identity and applied language studies Anyone interested in the relationship between language and society on the African continent would also find the book easily accessible Women and Climate Change in Bangladesh Margaret Alston, 2015-02-11 Bangladesh is by no means a high emitter of carbon but it is nevertheless one of the countries most critically affected There is a significant risk of damage to lives and livelihoods due to climate change in the form of cyclones flooding and storm surges and slow onset impacts such as droughts sea level rises and river basin erosion Moreover Bangladeshis are especially vulnerable as a high proportion of people live in extreme poverty This book assesses the impact of climate change in Bangladesh and presents the findings of a three year in depth study undertaken at village level in different districts of the country It examines national policies contrasting them with what is actually happening at village level It outlines the impact of climate change on livelihood strategies and health and focuses particularly on the impact on gender relations showing that although women have a significant role to play in helping communities cope with the effects of climate change cultural customs and practices often work against this The book argues for and puts forward policy proposals for recognising women's active contribution and supporting gender equality as a critical strategy in global adaptation to climate challenges International Perspectives on Family Caregiving Selwyn Stanley, 2025-04-30 Meeting the need for a text for the academic community which recognises informal caregiving experiences this is compelling reading for scholars of social work health and social care medical sociology nursing psychology and counselling and allied disciplines Suid-Afrikaanse Hofverslae , 2014 Social Science Abstracts , 1930
