User Unfriendly Joseph J. Corn, 2011-10-13 We've all been there Seduced by the sleek designs and smart capabilities of the newest gadgets we end up stumped by their complicated set up instructions and exasperating error messages In this fascinating history Joseph J Corn maps two centuries of consumer frustration and struggle with personal technologies Aggravation with the new machines people adopt and live with is as old as the industrial revolution Clocks sewing machines cameras lawn mowers bicycles electric lights cars and computers all can empower and exhilarate but they can also exact a form of servitude Adopters puzzle over which type and model to buy and then how to operate the device diagnose its troubles and meet its insatiable appetite for accessories replacement parts or upgrades It intrigues Corn that we put up with the frustrations our technology thrusts upon us battling with the unfamiliar and climbing the steep learning curves It is this ongoing struggle more than the uses to which we ultimately put our machines that animates this quizzical study Having extensively researched owner's manuals computer user group newsletters and how to literature Corn brings a fresh consumer oriented approach to the history of technology User Unfriendly will be valuable to historians of technology students of American culture and anyone interested in our modern dependency on machines and gadgets

Interactive Computer-mediated Animation Ronald M. Baecker, 1969 The use of interactive computer graphics in the construction of animated visual displays is investigated In interactive computer mediated animation movies are formed from direct console commands algorithms free hand sketches and real time actions such as mimicking a movement or rhythm with a stylus or a push button The resulting movies can be immediately viewed and altered In picture driven animation the animator may sketch and refine 1 static images to be used as components of individual frames of the movie and 2 static and dynamic images that represent movement and rhythm These latter pictures drive algorithms to generate dynamic displays Since each such picture determines critical parameters of a sequence of frames a single sketch or action controls the dynamic behavior of an entire interval of the movie The dissertation also outlines the design of a multi purpose open ended interactive Animation and Picture Processing Language APPL is a conversational language which accepts free hand sketches real time actions and algorithms that control interactive dynamic displays
