Linguistic Expression Language Can Also Express You:

Linguistic Expression Ken Kesey, 2014-12-25 Body Languages are the nonverbal signals that we use in order to communicate. Know how you can interpret and understand different languages. Meaning, Context and Methodology Sarah-Jane Conrad, Klaus Petrus, 2017-10-23 What methodological impact does Contextualism have on the philosophy of language? This collection sets out to provide some answers. The authors in this volume question three ultimately connected assumptions of the philosophy of language. The first assumption relates to the predominant status of referential semantics and its power to explain truth conditional meaning. This assumption has come under attack by the context thesis and a number of papers pursue the question of whether this is justified. The second assumption gives priority to assertive sentences when considering language use. The context thesis changes our understanding of language use altogether. Possible implications from this methodological shift are addressed in this volume. According to the third assumption, philosophical analysis amounts to nothing more than conceptual analysis. The context thesis risks undermining this project. Whether conceptual analysis can still be defended as a methodological tool is discussed in this volume. Romantic Love in Cultural Contexts Victor Karandashev, 2016-12-24 This volume presents a conceptual, historical, anthropological, and sociological review of how culture affects our experience and expression of romantic love. What is romantic love and how is it different from and similar to other kinds of love? How is romantic love related to sex and marriage in human history and across contemporary cultures? What cultural factors mediate attraction in love? These are some of the questions the volume explores through its interdisciplinary yet focused lens. Much of the current research evidence suggests that love is a universal emotion experienced by a majority of people in various historical eras and in all the world's cultures. Yet love displays in different ways because culture has an impact on people's conceptions of love and the ways they feel, think, and behave in romantic relationships. This volume summarizes classical knowledge on love and culture while at the same time focusing sharply on recent studies and cutting edge research that has advanced the field. Divided into three parts, the volume begins by defining and analyzing the concept of romantic love and an interdisciplinary approach to its study in cultural context. Part II traces the origin and evolution of romantic love both in various places throughout the world and various time periods throughout history. Part III presents the revolutionary expansion of romantic love ideas and practices in the late 20th and early 21st centuries in various parts of the world, focusing particularly on the development of romantic love as a cultural ideal of the modern cultures. Finally, the book concludes by summarizing the major achievements in this field of study and predicts future development. A timely and thoughtful addition to the literature, Romantic Love in Cultural Contexts delivers thought-provoking insights to researchers in relationship scholarship, sociology, anthropology, and cultural studies, and all those interested in the universal human concept of love. Overall, I find Dr. Victor Karandashev is an excellent and fine scholar who has a firm grasp of both the fundamental principles of cross-cultural research and of anthropology. In our increasingly connected world Romantic Love in Cultural Contexts updates and adds to the descriptions and explanations of similarities and differences in romantic love across generations and cultures Romantic love encompasses the life span rather than being a phenomenon largely confined to youthful years The topic of this project concerns the deepest of our sentiments and pervades life from birth to death This book contributes to better knowledge of this phenomenon across generations Flix Neto Professor of Psychology Faculdade de Psicologia e de Ciências da Educação Universidade do Porto Portugal

Grasping Emotions Ute E. Eisen, Heidrun E. Mader, Melanie Peetz, 2024-01-29 Emotions have increasingly attracted the attention of the sciences and academia The topic is all the more timely since we have witnessed a global trend towards highly emotionalized discourses across societies and religions Discourses are less guided by rational arguments and facts Instead narratives sometimes manipulative influence the thoughts and activities of our societies In this context the authoritative texts of the monotheistic religions are experiencing a renaissance Tanach Bible and Quran do not only emotionalize they also offer ancient concepts of emotions which affect the present This book brings the interdependencies of antiquity and post modernity into an interdisciplinary discussion How should we understand feelings at all This book explores the approaches to emotions as portrayed and understood in various sources and disciplines The contributors share their perspectives on methodological questions concerning research on the emotions Scholars in religious studies and theology from different traditions Jewish Christian Islamic enter into dialogue with other disciplines such as psychology literary studies sociology cultural studies philosophy and historiography

Everyday Conceptions of Emotion J.A. Russell, José-Miguel Fernández-Dols, Anthony S.R. Manstead, Jane C. Wellenkamp, 1995-05-31 In Everyday Conceptions of Emotion prominent anthropologists linguists and psychologists come together for the first time to discuss how emotions are conceptualised by people of different cultures and ages speaking different languages Anger fear jealousy and emotion itself are concepts that are bound up with the English language embedded in a way of thinking acting and speaking At the same time the metaphors underlying such concepts are often similar across languages and children of different cultures follow common developmental pathways The book thus discusses the interplay of social and cultural factors that humans share in their development of an understanding of the affective side of their lives For researchers interested in emotion development of concepts and language cultural and linguistic influences on psychological processes

Decolonizing the Lens of Power Kerstin Knopf, 2008-01-01 This is the first book that comprehensively examines Indigenous filmmaking in North America as it analyzes in detail a variety of representative films by Canadian and US American Indigenous filmmakers two films that contextualize the oral tradition three short films and four dramatic films The book explores how members of colonized groups use the medium of film as a means for cultural and political expression and thus enter the dominant colonial film discourse and create an answering discourse The theoretical framework is developed as an interdisciplinary approach combining postcolonialism Indigenous studies and film studies As Indigenous people are gradually taking control over the imagemaking process in the area of film and video they cease being studied and described objects and become subjects who create self controlled images of Indigenous cultures The book explores the translatability of Indigenous oral tradition into film touching upon the changes the cultural knowledge is subject to in this process including statements of Indigenous filmmakers on this issue It also asks whether or not there is a definite Indigenous film practice and whether filmmakers tend to dissociate their work from dominant classical filmmaking adapt to it or create new film forms and styles through converging classical film conventions and their conscious violation This approach presupposes that Indigenous filmmakers are constantly in some state of reaction to Western ethnographic filmmaking and to classical narrative filmmaking and its epitome the Hollywood narrative cinema The films analyzed are The Road Allowance People by Maria Campbell Itam Hakim Hopiit by Victor Masayesva Talker by Lloyd Martell Tenacity and Smoke Signals by Chris Eyre Overweight With Crooked Teeth and Honey Moccasin by Shelley Niro Big Bear by Gil Cardinal and Atanarjuat The Fast Runner by Zacharias Kunuk     Space, Time and Quantification in the YiChing Yancheng Yang, 2025-10-16 This book explores linguistic representations and cultural conceptualizations of the relationship between time and space in ancient China as expressed by the YiChing The YiChing an ancient Chinese divination manual based on hexagrams is one of the oldest of the Chinese classics and a foundational text for the Confucian and Daoist philosophical traditions Its hexagrams represent the internal logic of the world or universe as a dynamic whole alternating the processes of events based on the conceptual unity of space and time and their quantification This book is the first in depth examination of time and space and their quantification in the YiChing from the perspective of cognitive linguistics Through detailed analysis of motion and life metaphors it argues that space and time which in turn shapes how quantification is expressed is a unified concept in China Offering distinctive Chinese perspectives this insightful study deals with unsolved issues from experimental research in cognitive and psychological science to further expand the existing linguistic and cultural research field The book compares the Chinese conceptualization of the unity of space and time with an asymmetric conceptualization of space and time in the West making an original contribution to the study of space time and number in language and cognition and to the understanding of the history of Chinese thought     Understanding Syntax Maggie Tallerman, 2025-03-13 Assuming no prior grammatical knowledge Understanding Syntax explains and illustrates the major concepts categories and terminology involved in the study of cross linguistic syntax Taking a largely theory neutral and descriptive viewpoint throughout this book introduces syntactic typology syntactic description and the major typological categories found in the languages of the world clarifies with examples grammatical constructions and relationships between words in a clause including word classes and their syntactic properties grammatical relations such as subject and object case and agreement processes passives and other valency changing processes questions and relative clauses features in text and chapter end exercises to extend the reader's knowledge of syntactic concepts and argumentation drawing on data from over 100 languages highlights the principles involved in writing a brief syntactic sketch of language

This sixth edition has been revised to include updated further readings improved examples and exercises and additional explanations of the most demanding concepts Understanding Syntax is an essential textbook for students studying the description of language cross linguistic syntax language typology and linguistic fieldwork and will be the foundation for all studies of theoretical syntax
