The Translator's Mirror for the Romantic Fan Shengyu, 2022-05-29 The Translator's Mirror for the Romantic Cao Xueqin's Dream and David Hawkes Stone is a book that uses precious primary sources to decipher a master translator's art in Stone's brilliant English translation of the most famous Chinese classic novel Dream. This book demonstrates a bilingual close reading which sheds light on both the original and its translation. By dividing the process of translation into reading, writing and revising and involving the various aspects of Sinological research, textual criticism, recreation and literary allusions, this book ventures to emphasise the idea of translation as a dialogue between the original and the translated text, between the translator and his former self and a learning process both for the translator and the reader of his translation. Any student of Chinese language and literature or Chinese English translation will benefit from this book. For students and scholars who want to study David Hawkes and his Stone, this book is an indispensable aid. Readers will be interested to see how a non-theoretical analysis could be used to evaluate this translation for it makes an extremely important and useful contribution to this subject. The Bookseller , 1913 Bibliography of the Works of Nathaniel Hawthorne Wallace Hugh Cathcart, 1905 The Films of Sergio Leone Robert C. Cumbow, 2008-02-15 Sergio Leone's renown as a filmmaker rests upon a fistful of films, most notably the three Westerns he made with Clint Eastwood in the mid 1960s: A Fistful of Dollars 1964, For a Few Dollars More 1965 and The Good, the Bad and the Ugly 1966. While the success of these movies ensured Leone's reputation would endure, the few films he made following The Man with No Name Trilogy culminating in his American gangster epic Once Upon a Time in America 1984 with Robert DeNiro would solidify Leone's place as one of the great visionaries of his time. In this enhanced revision of Once upon a Time: The Films of Sergio Leone Robert C. Cumbow examines the work of this Italian filmmaker who made his mark re-envisioning the American Western. This volume includes a greatly expanded introduction and contains newly revised essays in which Cumbow analyzes the transition from peplum films to Westerns in the Italian popular tradition. The book also examines each of Leone's major films as director as well as the swan song Italian Western My Name Is Nobody which Leone co-wrote and guided as producer. Cumbow also studies Leone's compositional style and the influence of Catholicism and the Italian grand opera tradition on his work. He provides a critical evaluation of Leone's style in reshaping the Western genre and later the crime film as well as an assessment of the influences on Leone's work and his continuing impact on subsequent generations of film makers. Additional features of this book include thumbnail comments on the professionals who most frequently made up Leone's cast and crew as well as an entire chapter devoted to composer Ennio Morricone. The book also includes an exhaustive bibliography, discography and filmography completely updated for this new edition. For fans and scholars seeking original and illuminating discussion of his work, The Films of Sergio Leone provides a critical appreciation of this master stylist.
