Ho,2022-01-15 In Developing Mission Joseph W Ho offers a transnational cultural history of US and Chinese communities framed by missionary lenses through time and space tracing the lives and afterlives of images cameras and visual imaginations from before the Second Sino Japanese War through the first years of the People s Republic of China When American Protestant and Catholic missionaries entered interwar China they did so with cameras in hand Missions principally aimed at the conversion of souls and the modernization of East Asia became by virtue of the still and moving images recorded quasi anthropological ventures that shaped popular understandings of and formal foreign policy toward China Portable photographic technologies changed the very nature of missionary experience while images that missionaries circulated between China and the United States affected cross cultural encounters in times of peace and war Ho illuminates the centrality of visual practices in the American missionary enterprise in modern China even as intersecting modernities and changing Sino US relations radically transformed lives behind and in front of those lenses In doing so Developing Mission reconstructs the almost lost histories of transnational image makers subjects and viewers across twentieth century China and the United States User Unfriendly Joseph J. Corn,2011-11-01 We ve all been there Seduced by the sleek designs and smart capabilities of the newest gadgets we end up stumped by their complicated set up instructions and exasperating error messages In this fascinating history Joseph J Corn maps two centuries of consumer frustration and struggle with personal technologies Aggravation with the new machines people adopt and live with is as old as the industrial revolution Clocks sewing machines cameras lawn mowers bicycles electric lights cars and computers all can empower and exhilarate but they can also exact a form of servitude

Adopters puzzle over which type and model to buy and then how to operate the device diagnose its troubles and meet its insatiable appetite for accessories replacement parts or upgrades It intrigues Corn that we put up with the frustrations our technology thrusts upon us battling with the unfamiliar and climbing the steep learning curves It is this ongoing struggle more than the uses to which we ultimately put our machines that animates this thought provoking study Having extensively researched owner s manuals computer user group newsletters and how to literature Corn brings a fresh consumer oriented approach to the history of technology User Unfriendly will be valuable to historians of technology students of American culture and anyone interested in our modern dependence on machines and gadgets User's Manual Eastman Kodak Company,1995 Snapshot Van Gogh Museum, Amsterdam,Phillips Collection,Indianapolis Museum of Art,2011 The advent of the Kodak camera in 1888 made photography accessible to amateurs as well as to professionals Artists were not immune to its allure and many began experimenting with the camera as a means of capturing images as studies for final works and of observing the world and the people in it Snapshot investigates seven Post Impressionist painters and printmakers Pierre Bonnard George Hendrik Breitner Maurice Denis Henri Evenepoel Henri Riviere Felix Vallotton and Edouard Vuillard Although celebrated for their works on canvas and paper these artists also made many personal and informal snapshots Depicting interiors city streets nudes and portraits these photographs were kept private and never exhibited As a result most have never been published Juxtaposing personal photographs with the related paintings and prints by these Post Impressionist artists Snapshot offers a new perspective on early photography and on the synthesis of painting and photography at the end of the 19th century Catalog of Copyright Entries.
