System Identification (SYSID '03) Paul Van Den Hof, Bo Wahlberg, Siep Weiland, 2004-06-29 The scope of the symposium covers all major aspects of system identification experimental modelling signal processing and adaptive control ranging from theoretical methodological and scientific developments to a large variety of engineering application areas It is the intention of the organizers to promote SYSID 2003 as a meeting place where scientists and engineers from several research communities can meet to discuss issues related to these areas Relevant topics for the symposium program include Identification of linear and multivariable systems identification of nonlinear systems including neural networks identification of hybrid and distributed systems Identification for control experimental modelling in process control vibration and modal analysis model validation monitoring and fault detection signal processing and communication parameter estimation and inverse modelling statistical analysis and uncertainty bounding adaptive control and data based controller tuning learning data mining and Bayesian approaches sequential Monte Carlo methods including particle filtering applications in process control systems motion control systems robotics aerospace systems bioengineering and medical systems physical measurement systems automotive systems econometrics transportation and communication systems Provides the latest research on System Identification Contains contributions written by experts in the field Part of the IFAC Proceedings Series which provides a comprehensive overview of the major topics in control engineering System Identification Lennart Ljung, 1998-12-29 The field's leading text now completely updated Modeling dynamical systems theory methodology and applications Lennart Ljung's System Identification Theory for the User is a complete coherent description of the theory methodology and practice of System Identification This completely revised Second Edition introduces subspace methods methods that utilize frequency domain data and general non linear black box methods including neural networks and neuro fuzzy modeling The book contains many new computer based examples designed for Ljung's market leading software System Identification Toolbox for MATLAB Ljung combines careful mathematics a practical understanding of real world applications and extensive exercises He introduces both black box and tailor made models of linear as well as non linear systems and he describes principles properties and algorithms for a variety of identification techniques Nonparametric time domain and frequency domain methods Parameter estimation methods in a general prediction error setting Frequency domain data and frequency domain interpretations Asymptotic analysis of parameter estimates Linear regressions iterative search methods and other ways to compute estimates Recursive adaptive estimation techniques Ljung also presents detailed coverage of the key issues that can make or break system identification projects such as defining objectives designing experiments controlling the bias distribution of transfer function estimates and carefully validating the resulting models The first edition of System Identification has been the field's most widely cited reference for over a decade This new edition will be the new text of choice for anyone concerned with system identification theory and practice Adaptive Control Kwanho

You,2009-01-01 Adaptive control has been a remarkable field for industrial and academic research since 1950s Since more and more adaptive algorithms are applied in various control applications it is becoming very important for practical implementation As it can be confirmed from the increasing number of conferences and journals on adaptive control topics it is certain that the adaptive control is a significant guidance for technology development The authors the chapters in this book are professionals in their areas and their recent research results are presented in this book which will also provide new ideas for improved performance of various control application problems
