Long Memory The Black Experience In America:

Long Memory Mary Frances Berry, John W. Blassingame, 1997-08-14 This powerful provocative survey is organized around the key issues of Afro American history Africa and slavery family religion sex and racism politics economics education criminal justice discrimination and protest movements and black nationalism African Americans in the U.S. Economy

Cecilia Conrad, 2005 Over the last several decades academic discourse on racial inequality has focused primarily on political and social issues with significantly less attention on the complex interplay between race and economics African Americans in the U S Economy represents a contribution to recent scholarship that seeks to lessen this imbalance This book builds upon and significantly extends the principles terminology and methods of standard economics and black political economy Influenced by path breaking studies presented in several scholarly economic journals this volume is designed to provide a political economic analysis of the past and present economic status of African Americans The chapters in this volume represent the work of some of the nation s most distinguished scholars on the various topics presented The individual chapters cover several well defined areas including black employment and unemployment labor market discrimination black entrepreneurship racial economic inequality urban revitalization and black economic development The book is written in a style free of the technical jargon that characterizes most economics textbooks While the book is methodologically sophisticated it is accessible to a wide range of students and the general public and will appeal to academicians and practitioners alike The Harvard Guide to African-American History Evelyn Brooks Higginbotham, 2001 This massive guide sponsored by the W E B Du Bois Institute for Afro American Research at Harvard University and compiled by renowned experts offers a compendium of information and interpretation on over 500 years of black experience in America Places of Cultural Memory, 2001 Uneven Roads Todd Shaw, Louis DeSipio, Dianne Pinderhughes, Lorrie Frasure, Toni-Michelle C. Travis, 2024-01-12 Uneven Roads helps students grasp how when and why race and ethnicity matter in U S politics Using the metaphor of a road with twists turns and dead ends this incisive text takes students on a journey to understanding political racialization and the roots of modern interpretations of race and ethnicity The book s structure and narrative are designed to encourage comparison and reflection Students critically analyze the history and context of U S racial and ethnic politics to build the skills needed to draw their own conclusions In the Third Edition of this groundbreaking text authors Shaw DeSipio Pinderhughes Frasure and Travis bring the historical narrative to life by addressing the most contemporary debates and challenges affecting U S racial and ethnic politics Students will explore important issues regarding voting rights political representation education and criminal justice policies and the immigrant experience Contemporary Controversies and the American Racial Divide Robert C. Smith, Richard Seltzer, 2000-05-30 Contemporary Controversies and the American Racial Divide is a detailed study of some of the most racially divisive issues America has encountered in the past decade Smith and Seltzer employ more than forty surveys to explore race based public opinion differences on high profile controversies including the Rodney King and O J Simpson cases the arrest trial jailing and subsequent reelection of Washington D C Mayor Marion Barry the Million Man March and Louis Farrakhan and the Clarence Thomas Anita Hill controversy The authors also look at race based opinion differences on the inner city crack cocaine epidemic and the spread of AIDS among the American populace The divisions in opinion between blacks and whites on these controversies are explained in terms of the distinctive historical and cultural experiences of the different races and the gaps gulfs and chasms in their contemporary social and economic conditions While also noting significant commonalities in opinion across the color line the book focuses on racial differences and their sources and in a concluding chapter advances suggestions as to how the nation might overcome its racial divisions This innovative study is a unique rich contextualized dynamic analysis of race opinion unlike anything else in literature

Reflexive Communication in the Culturally Diverse Workplace John Kikoski, Catherine Kikoski, 1996-07-22 America's rapid and drastically changing demographics pose new challenges to society and particularly to the workplace Taking as their theme that The only antidote to stereotyping and discrimination is to know each other as individuals the authors look carefully at the direction in which America is heading demographically and where it will be in the 21st century They discuss what the workplace will be like and how it will be affected by the characteristics of the people who will comprise it The essence of the problem say the authors is communication the face to face interaction between people of different ethnicities races and genders They may be speaking to each other but are not being heard Exploring the relationship between culture communication and management this new research in management introduces and applies the theory of Reflexive Communication and the microskills necessary for using it in day to day work situations The authors lay out the patterns of culture specific values and behaviors of the major demographic groups in the workplace white males women African Americans Hispanics and Asian Americans In each of these chapters the authors apply their theory and show step by step how individuals within each group can be accessed and trained by the precepts of Reflexive Communication The book concludes with a thoughtful examination of the future of diversity and diversity training in America and reasserts the need for people of differing cultures to find ways to work together not only for their own personal benefit but for the benefit of their workplaces and organizations The authors lay out the patterns of culture specific values and behaviors of the major demographic groups in the workplace white males women African Americans Hispanics and Asian Americans In each of these chapters the authors apply their theory and show step by step how individuals within each group can be accessed and trained according to the precepts of Reflexive Communication The book concludes with a thoughtful examination of the future of diversity training in America and reasserts the need for people of differing cultures to find ways to work together not only for their own personal benefit but for the benefit of their workplaces and organizations

The Black Community James Edward Blackwell, 1985 History and Memory in African-American Culture

Genevieve Fabre Professor of American Literature University of Paris, Robert O'Meally Professor of English and African-American Studies Columbia University, 1994-10-29 As Nathan Huggins once stated altering American history to account fully for the nation's black voices would change the tone and meaning the frame and the substance of the entire story Rather than a sort of Pilgrim's Progress tale of bold ascent and triumph American history with the black parts told in full would be transmuted into an existential tragedy closer Huggins said to Sartre's No Exit than to the vision of life in Bunyan The relation between memory and history has received increasing attention both from historians and from literary critics In this volume a group of leading scholars has come together to examine the role of historical consciousness and imagination in African American culture The result is a complex picture of the dynamic ways in which African American historical identity constantly invents and transmits itself in literature art oral documents and performances Each of the scholars represented has chosen a different site of memory from a variety of historical and geographical points and from different ideological theoretical and artistic perspectives Yet the book is unified by a common concern with the construction of an emerging African American cultural memory The renowned group of contributors including Hazel Carby Werner Sollors Veve Clark Catherine Clinton and Nellie McKay among others consists of participants of the five year series of conferences at the DuBois Institute at Harvard University from which this collection originated Conducted under the leadership of Genevieve Fabre Melvin Dixon and the late Nathan Huggins the conferences and as a result this book represent something of a cultural moment themselves and scholars and students of American and African American literature and history will be richer as a result Comprehensive Multicultural Education Christine I. Bennett, 1990 This book provides readers with the historical background basic terminology and social science concepts of multicultural education Comprehensive Multicultural Education provides a curriculum model with six goals and numerous lesson plans illustrating how each goal can be implemented in the classroom The book includes conceptual frameworks from the social sciences and historical backgrounds Both theory and practice in the book present interdisciplinary content through primary source material and vignettes of actual teachers and students and encourage interactions between readers cultural and individual differences For anyone interested in multicultural education teaching in a pluralistic society and or foundations of American culture and society Copyright Libri GmbH All rights reserved Chronology of African-American History Alton Hornsby, 1991 Focuses on the events and the people who have shaped the history of African Americans from the year 1619 to the present The Register of the Kentucky Historical Society Kentucky Historical Society, 1984 Historic Black Landmarks George Cantor, 1991 A guided tour of 300 landmarks uniquely related to black history and culture The Vietnam War James S. Olson, 1993-04-13

This is a scholarly assessment of broad ranging research on the Vietnam War over the last seventeen years by the editor of the prize winning Dictionary of the Vietnam War James Olson and his contributors offer fascinating insights as they evaluate the significant literature films and TV programs offering different perspectives on the historical background strategy and conduct of the war the perspectives of Americans the Indochinese women minorities and veterans the impact of the war on the homefront and major problems and issues in the aftermath of the war This one volume major reference covers all genres of literature primary and secondary sources personal narratives and oral histories fiction and non fiction popular accounts expert studies of military strategy and operations Indochinese studies books about the involvement and role of women and blacks and discussions about Indochinese refugees prisoners of war those missing in action veterans and post traumatic shock Films TV programs comic books and studies pointing to the effect of the war on the homefront and on others make up an important part of the book A full index makes the volume easily accessible to students scholars and professionals in military studies American and world history American studies and popular culture political science and international relations an important acquisition for libraries of all kind

One-third of a Nation Ura Jean Oyemade Bailey, Lorenzo Morris, 2001 National Political Science Review, 1994

Looking South Winfred Moore, Joseph F. Tripp, 1989-10-11 The dramatic changes experienced by the South over the past 150 years have challenged deeply rooted values beliefs and institutions and shaped the region's complex and tumultuous history These challenges and the southern response to them are the focus of this book Presenting sixteen essays selected from more than eighty presented at a recent conference on the South it provides an interpretive re examination of five major topics in southern history These are the impact of Reconstruction the development of racial attitudes the debate over secession southern economic development and the use of literature as an instrument of self criticism and analysis The first chapter surveys interpretations of the Reconstruction era and analyzes it in terms of the extended historical process of adjusting to the end of slavery Several essays trace some of the ways in which racial attitudes have affected the evolution of southern society from the colonial era to the present Among the topics considered are the defense and support of slavery by the southern religious establishment the impact of African American culture on the early Ku Klux Klan the experience of desegregation and the stereotyping of blacks Addressing the question of secession the next group of essays examines the varying responses to the issue in different southern counties and states Chapters on southern economic development discuss women's roles in the colonial agricultural economy postbellum developments in agricultural labor and the lives of two individualistic southern entrepreneurs The final chapters examine the efforts of southern writers to understand the southern experience and to tell the story of the South in fiction and popular history Including the contributions of many leading historians this work offers fascinating new data as well as significant reinterpretations in several major areas of southern historical scholarship It will appeal to scholars students and other readers concerned with southern African American and U S history
