

Sample Answer to Question 1(g)

Using information from the text/data and your knowledge of economics, discuss the likely effects of the exchange rate trend from 2011 to 2022 (shown in Figure 1) on the UK balance of payments and the UK economy.

Starting off, Figure 1 shows that the exchange rate for the pound (UK£) has generally depreciated against the US dollar from 2011 to 2022, with fluctuations during this period. Table 1 confirms this trend, showing the exchange rate declined from $1.61 in 2011 to $1.37 in 2021. This essay will examine the effects of this currency depreciation on both the UK's balance of payments and its wider economy.

In order to analyze this issue effectively, it is important to understand key terminology. Exchange rate refers to the price of one currency in terms of another currency in the international foreign exchange market. Exchange rate depreciation refers to the fall in the value of one currency relative to another in a floating exchange rate system. In this case, the pound has depreciated against the US dollar, meaning fewer dollars can be purchased with one pound. The Balance of payments is the record of all transactions between one country and the rest of the world, consisting primarily of the current account (which includes the trade balance, income flows, and transfers) and the financial account (which includes foreign direct investment and portfolio investment).

When considering the exchange rate market, this depreciation of the pound can be represented as a leftward shift of the demand curve for pounds in the foreign exchange market, as shown in Diagram 1 below, where the vertical axis represents the price of pounds in US dollars, and the horizontal axis shows the quantity of pounds. The initial equilibrium is at E_1 , where the exchange rate is $1.61 per pound in 2011. As international demand for UK goods declines, there is less need for pounds to purchase these goods, causing the demand curve to shift leftward from D_1 to D_2 . This creates a new equilibrium at E_2 , with a lower exchange rate of $1.37 per pound. This currency weakening can be attributed to a fall in demand for the pound, possibly driven by a decline in UK export competitiveness. As Text A, paragraph 4 notes, "the UK export market share in world trade has been gradually declining," consistent with this depreciation mechanism.

The Political Economy of City Branding Ari-Veikko Anttiroiko, 2014-02-24 Globalization affects urban communities in many ways. One of its manifestations is increased intercity competition which compels cities to increase their attractiveness in terms of capital entrepreneurship, information expertise and consumption. This competition takes place in an asymmetric field with cities trying to find the best possible ways of using their natural and created assets, the latter including a naturally evolving reputation or consciously developed competitive identity or brand. The Political Economy of City Branding discusses this phenomenon from the perspective of numerous post industrial cities in North America, Europe, East Asia and Australasia. Special attention is given to local economic development policy and industrial profiling and global city rankings are used to provide empirical evidence for cities' characteristics and positions in the global urban hierarchy. On top of this, social and urban challenges such as creative class struggle are also discussed. The core message of the book is that cities should apply the tools of city branding in their industrial promotion and specialization but at the same time take into account the special nature of their urban communities and be open and inclusive in their brand policies in order to ensure optimal results. This book will be of interest to scholars and practitioners working in the areas of local economic development, urban planning, public management and branding.

Adopting a Harmonized Regional Approach to Customs Regulation for the Tripartite Free Trade Agreement Vimbai Lisa Michelle Jana, 2017-09-19 The three regional economic communities (RECs) in Eastern and Southern Africa are the Common Market for Eastern and Southern Africa (COMESA), the East African Community (EAC) and the Southern African Development Community (SADC). Together they have recognised the need to work towards regional cooperation aimed at the eventual creation of a single regional economic community or Tripartite Free Trade Agreement (TFTA). This will replace the existent RECs in Eastern and Southern Africa to which the member states of these two regions have multiple membership. The TFTA region comprises a total of 27 member states which have a combined population of 527 million people and a combined gross domestic product (GDP) of USD 624 billion. These statistics translate into a potential regional economic powerhouse for Eastern and Southern Africa. One of the major goals of the TFTA is to harmonise trade arrangements among the three RECs, improve the movement of goods and persons within the single integrated region, facilitate the joint implementation of regional infrastructure projects and enhance co-operation of member states. This is a laudable initiative by the member states of the three RECs and it is recognised that regional integration is the first step towards integration into a multilateral trading system. For the TFTA member states, it is crucial that there is an awareness to move towards a review of domestic customs legislation and policy and to develop regional supranational legislation and regulations in order to gain a stronger competitive edge in the global market. This study shies away from proposing a quick fix or instant benefit to the harmonisation of TFTA member states' customs legislative frameworks and policies and the development of a single automated interoperable electronic customs system. Rather, it places its focus on long term sustainable benefits which will be realised over time The harmonisation of TFTA member state customs legislative policies and the resultant Information and Communications Technology ICT reforms to the customs processes of the TFTA member states though not immediate or short term will strategically position the region to conduct business in an increasingly volume driven fast paced electronic global economy Political, Economic and Financial Country Risk Mohamed A.

Governance in Transition Ján Buček, Andrew Ryder, 2015-04-15 This book looks at experience in government restructuring and devolution from a variety of national and international perspectives both within the European Union and elsewhere focusing on lessons learned and ways forward Since the 1980s there has been a global trend to give more power to local governments Even in Korea and the United Kingdom the most centralised countries in the OECD local government powers have increased with substantial economic benefits Within the European Union the principle of subsidiarity has enshrined the idea of devolution New member states particularly in central and eastern Europe have significantly created new and self sufficient local and regional governments However this process has been complicated Devolution is not a panacea in its own right and need not lead to economic growth While it can encourage savings through collaboration it can also lead to confused lines of authority and can complicate policy formation and implantation Devolution can strain local budgets forcing local governments to rely on their own sources of finance rather than central government transfers Suburbanisation rural depopulation the growth of some regions and the decline of others have raised new problems particularly related to inter governmental cooperation among local governments and different levels of government In many cases an increased number of governments has increased administrative costs

The State of African Cities, 2014 United Nations Publications, 2015-09-10 The African continent is currently in the midst of simultaneously unfolding and highly significant demographic economic technological environmental urban and socio political transitions Africa's economic performance is promising with booming cities supporting growing middle classes and creating sizable consumer markets Despite significant overall growth the continent continues to suffer under very rapid urban growth accompanied by massive urban poverty and many other social problems These seem to indicate that the development trajectories followed by African nations since post independence may not be able to deliver on the aspirations of broad based human development and prosperity for all This report therefore argues for a bold re imagining of prevailing models in order to steer the ongoing transitions towards greater sustainability based on a thorough review of all available options That is especially the case since the already daunting urban challenges in Africa are now being exacerbated by the new vulnerabilities and threats associated with climate and environmental change

Arab Middle Class, 2014 The present report studies the Arab middle class an important social group that is relatively little understood despite the fundamental role it has played in shaping the economic and social development outcomes in the Arab region This report contributes to the ongoing debate about factors that led to the Arab uprisings and the difficult transitions to democracy that followed the departure of long standing dictators by marking elements influencing middle class allegiances specifically those that weakened their well established alliances with ruling regimes The report is motivated by the conviction on the basis of past development experiences that a new Arab development model can only succeed if the middle class plays a lead role in designing and implementing processes of economic transformation and political transition Studying the middle class is therefore crucial to interpreting the past understanding the present and reading the potential future development prospects of the Arab region This report introduces three novel approaches aimed at charting a path for sustaining empowering and enlarging the middle class The first is related to the measurement of the middle class based on a definition that takes into account both the quantity and quality of their consumption expenditure The second relates to the profiling of the Arab middle class using variables such as education employment and mobility in addition to multidimensional poverty The third novel approach lies in using these results to provide a narrative of the socioeconomic context of the decade leading up to the uprisings from a middle class perspective The report concludes that the empowerment of the Arab middle class could pave a way out of the current development and governance debacle towards an Arab developmental State Publisher's description
