What two functions describe uses of an access control list? (Choose two.) ACLs assist the router in determining the best path to a destination.

Standard ACLs can restrict access to specific applications and ports.

ACLs provide a basic level of security for network access.

ACLs can permit or deny traffic based upon the MAC address originating on the router.

ACLs can control which areas a host can access on a network.

What are two possible uses of access control lists in an enterprise network? (Choose two.)

limiting debug outputs

reducing the processing load on routers allowing Layer 2 traffic to be filtered by a router controlling virtual terminal access to routers

controlling the physical status of router interfaces 3.

Which two characteristics are shared by both standard and extended ACLs?

(Choose two.) Both kinds of ACLs can filter based on protocol type.

Both can permit or deny specific services by port number.

Both include an implicit deny as a final ACE.

Both filter packets for a specific destination host IP address.

Both can be created by using either a descriptive name or number.

Standard ACLs filter traffic based solely on a specified source IP address.

Extended ACLs can filter by source or destination, protocol, or port. Both standard and extended ACLs contain an implicit deny as a final ACE. Standard and extended ACLs can be identified by either names or numbers.

Which statement describes a characteristic of standard IPv4

ACLs? They are configured in the interface configuration mode.

They filter traffic based on source IP addresses only.

They can be created with a number but not with a name.
