Mathematics for Sustainability John Roe, Russ deForest, Sara Jamshidi, 2018-04-26 Designed for the 21st century classroom this textbook poses, refines and analyzes questions of sustainability in a quantitative environment Building mathematical knowledge in the context of issues relevant to every global citizen today this text takes an approach that empowers students of all disciplines to understand and reason with quantitative information Whatever conclusions may be reached on a given topic this book will prepare the reader to think critically about their own and other people's arguments and to support them with careful mathematical reasoning Topics are grouped in themes of measurement flow connectivity change risk and decision making Mathematical thinking is at the fore throughout as students learn to model sustainability on local regional and global scales Exercises emphasize concepts while projects build and challenge communication skills With no prerequisites beyond high school algebra instructors will find this book a rich resource for engaging all majors in the mathematics classroom From the Foreword No longer will you be just a spectator when people give you quantitative information you will become an active participant who can engage and contribute new insights to any discussion There are many math books that will feed you knowledge but it is rare to see a book like this one that will help you cultivate wisdom As the authors illustrate mathematics that pays attention to human considerations can help you look at the world with a new lens help you frame important questions and help you make wise decisions Francis Edward Su Harvey Mudd College

Understanding West Africa's Ebola Epidemic Ibrahim Abdullah, Ismail Rashid, 2017-10-15 From 2013 to 2015 over 11 000 people across West Africa lost their lives to the deadliest outbreak of the Ebola virus in history Crucially this epidemic marked the first time the virus was able to spread beyond rural areas to major cities overturning conventional assumptions about its epidemiology With backgrounds ranging from development to disease control the contributors to this volume some of them based in countries affected by the Ebola epidemic consider the underlying factors that shaped this unprecedented outbreak While championing the heroic efforts of local communities and aid workers in halting the spread of the disease the contributors also reveal deep structural problems in both the countries and humanitarian agencies involved which hampered the efforts to contain the epidemic Alarming they show that little has been learned from these events with health provision remaining underfunded and poorly equipped to deal with future outbreaks Such issues they argue reflect the wider challenges we face in tackling epidemic disease in an increasingly interconnected world

Mars analogs: Environment, Habitability and Biodiversity Yiliang Li, André Antunes, Maggie CY Lau Vetter, David Flannery, 2023-06-15 Martian surface contains diverse lithologies from sedimentary rocks to mafic ultramafic igneous rocks and ground patterns These rocks record the late stage evolution on the Martian surface from a temperate environment with bodies of liquid water to the current cold and hyper arid environment The constraints on the key parameters and processes for water rock interaction sedimentation of materials and geomorphological development can provide important insights into the environmental change and habitability on the Martian surface However due to the difficulty in accessing Martian samples and limited remote sensing data available from the Martian surface most of the mysteries on Mars remain unraveled In this proposed research topic we will focus on geological settings on Earth that are similar to the conditions on Mars These Mars analogs are employed to infer possible processes on Mars and their impact on habitability and the search for life The Mars analogs on Earth span a variety of environments such as the super arid sedimentary plains e g the Qaidam Basin in the north of the Tibetan Plateau the Mojave Basin in the USA and the Atacama Desert in South America the subsurface fracture waters in Precambrian cratons e g the Canadian Shield the Fennoscandian Shield and the Kaapvaal Craton high salinity localities e g Laguna de T rez salt mines and deep sea brines as well as extremely cold and highly radiative environments e g polar regions thin atmosphere These settings on Earth are more accessible for collecting high quality mineralogical geochemical geochronological and microbiological data by the state of the art facilities These data can provide a solid cornerstone for us to understand the cycles of water and other life essential elements and their impact on habitability and biodiversity in extreme environments on Earth as well as the limits of life and the detection of biosignatures Such research can also provide vital insights on the search for life on other planets and moons
