Pathogens for War Donald H. Avery, 2013-04-28 Pathogens for War explores how Canada and its allies have attempted to deal with the threat of germ warfare one of the most fearful weapons of mass destruction since the Second World War In addressing this subject distinguished historian Donald Avery investigates the relationship between bioweapons poison gas and nuclear devices as well as the connection between bioattacks and natural disease pandemics Avery emphasizes the crucially important activities of Canadian biodefence scientists beginning with Nobel Laureate Frederick Banting at both the national level and through cooperative projects within the framework of an elaborate alliance system Delving into history through a rich collection of declassified documents Pathogens for War also devotes several chapters to the contemporary challenges of bioterrorism and disease pandemics from both national and international perspectives As such readers will not only learn about Canada's secret involvement with biological warfare but will also gain new insights into current debates about the peril of bioweapons one of today's greatest threats to world peace Production Chemicals for the Oil and Gas Industry, Second Edition Malcolm A. Kelland, 2014-03-13 Production chemistry issues result from changes in well stream fluids both liquid and gaseous during processing Since crude oil production is characterized by variable production rates and unpredictable changes to the nature of the produced fluids it is essential for production chemists to have a range of chemical additives available for rectifying issues that would not otherwise be fully resolved Modern production methods the need to upgrade crude oils of variable quality and environmental constraints demand chemical solutions Thus oilfield production chemicals are necessary to overcome or minimize the effects of the production chemistry problems Production Chemicals for the Oil and Gas Industry Second Edition discusses a wide variety of production chemicals used by the oil and gas industry for down hole and topside applications both onshore and offshore Incorporating the large amount of research and applications since the first edition this new edition reviews all past and present classes of production chemicals providing numerous difficult to obtain references especially SPE papers and patents Unlike other texts that focus on how products perform in the field this book focuses on the specific structures of chemicals that are known to deliver the required or desired performance information that is very useful for research and development Each updated chapter begins by introducing a problem such as scale or corrosion for which there is a production chemical The author then briefly discusses all chemical and nonchemical methods to treat the problem and provides in depth descriptions of the structural classes of relevant production chemicals He also mentions when available the environmental properties of chemicals and whether the chemical or technique has been successfully used in the field This edition includes two new chapters and nearly 50 percent more references

Capability Building and Global Innovation Networks Michael Gastrow, Glenda Kruss, 2017-10-02 This book explores the dynamics of global innovation networks and their implications for development Knowledge is often seen as the main determinant of economic growth competitiveness and employment There is a strong causal interaction between capability building and the growth in demand for and supply of technical and organizational innovation This complex of skills knowledge and innovation holds great potential benefit for development particularly in the context of developing countries However despite evidence of the increasing importance of knowledge and innovation there has been relatively little research to understand the distribution and coordination of innovation and knowledge intensive economic activities on a global scale and what this might mean for economic development Each chapter though sharing an underlying conception of innovation systems innovation networks and their relation to capability building and development takes a different theoretical stance The authors explore the emerging relationship between competence building and the structure of global innovation networks thus providing a valuable new perspective from which to critically assess their development potential This book was originally published as a special issue of Innovation and Development
