Drawing for Science Education Phyllis Katz, 2017-03-23 This book argues for the essential use of drawing as a tool for science teaching and learning The authors are working in schools universities and continual science learning CSL settings around the world They have written of their experiences using a variety of prompts to encourage people to take pen to paper and draw their thinking sometimes direct observation and in other instances their memories The result is a collection of research and essays that offer theory techniques outcomes and models for the reader Young children have provided evidence of the perceptions that they have accumulated from families and the media before they reach classrooms Secondary students describe their ideas of chemistry and physics Teacher educators use drawings to consider the progress of their undergraduates understanding of science teaching and even their moral ethical responses to teaching about climate change Museum visitors have drawn their understanding of the physics of how exhibit sounds are transmitted A physician explains how the history of drawing has been a critical tool to medical education and doctor patient communications Each chapter contains samples insights and where applicable analysis techniques The chapters in this book should be helpful to researchers and teachers alike across the teaching and learning continuum The sections are divided by the kinds of activities for which drawing has historically been used in science education An instance of observation Audubon Linnaeus A process how plants grow over time what happens when chemicals combine Conceptions of what science is and who does it Images of identity development in science teaching and learning

Complexity Theory and Educational Leadership in Schools Patrick McQuillan, Laura Schall-Leckrone, Brad Kershner, Anna Noble Dunphy, Ksenia Filatov, 2025-02-20 The research in this volume draws on aspects of complexity theory and its integral link to systems performance to propose a new method for combatting the longstanding opportunity gap and related underperformance of so many underserved students in the American educational system Through a longitudinal case study of the Lynch Leadership Academy at Boston College this research considers the initial conditions and related disequilibrium principals experienced the degree to which principals shared power and authority within their school context and the extent to which they generated a shared school culture founded on collaboration and systematic reflection From these data the authors create a detailed picture of the Academy and its impact on the principals and their schools using a new analytic tool called the systems transformation heuristic designed by the authors to quantify the qualitative dimensions of a school's efforts to enact adaptive change consistent with the complex adaptive system metaphor As such it offers a new foundation for conceptualizing ongoing systems change as well as a fresh model for school personnel to consider their experience from concrete intertwined and unique points of view It will appeal to scholars researchers and practitioners with interests in educational leadership complexity theory urban education and social justice Theorizing Teaching and Learning in Asia and Europe John Chi-Kin Lee, Kerry J. Kennedy, 2017-03-27 There has been much debate in recent times between the Anglo American tradition of curriculum studies and the Continental and North European tradition of didactics Didaktik As important as such debate has been this book seeks to add new voices to the debate representing ideas and traditions from a different part of the world The focus is on Chinese curriculum thinking that has passed through a number of stages and currently represents a blend of some aspects of the American tradition and Chinese cultural traditions How does Chinese thinking about curriculum teaching and learning resonate with European didactic traditions and what are the implications for theorizing an expanded field of curriculum studies This book deliberately transcends borders and cultures to explore new territory to provide a platform for open dialogue and to open up new areas of investigation Chapters include Curriculum Reform and Research in China A Social Historical Perspective What Mathematics Did Teachers Learn Comparison of the School and the Pre Service Teacher Mathematics Curricula in Germany and Taiwan Living in Parallel Worlds A Transatlantic Dialogue between General Didactics and Instructional Design Handbook of Research on Science Literacy Integration in Classroom Environments Tai, Chih-Che, Moran, Renee M. R., Robertson, Laura, Keith, Karin, Hong, Huili, 2018-10-12 Secondary schools are continually faced with the task of preparing students for a world that is more connected advanced and globalized than ever before In order to adequately prepare students for their future educators must provide them with strong reading and writing skills as well as the ability to understand scientific concepts The Handbook of Research on Science Literacy Integration in Classroom Environments is a pivotal reference source that provides vital research on the importance of cross curriculum discipline connections in improving student understanding and education While highlighting topics such as curriculum integration online learning and instructional coaching this publication explores practices in teaching students how to analyze and interpret data as well as reading writing and speaking This book is ideally designed for teachers graduate level students academicians instructional designers administrators and education researchers seeking current research on science literacy adoption in contemporary classrooms A Parents' Guide to Grading and Reporting Matt Townsley, Chad Lang, 2023-09-15 Whether resulting from the educational fallout of the COVID 19 global pandemic or merely challenging the status quo more schools are transitioning their grading practices away from traditional points and percentages and toward 21st century grading practices such as standards based and proficiency based grading A Parents Guide to Grading and Reporting Being Clear about What Matters assists parents and guardians in understanding what is involved in 21st century grading and how to become better partners with educators in efforts to understand students strengths and areas for improvement Syrian Refugee Children in the Middle East and Europe Michelle Pace, Somdeep Sen, 2018-04-09 Since the start of the conflict in Syria in 2011 Syrian refugee children have withstood violence uncertainty fear trauma and loss This book follows their journeys by bringing together scholars and practitioners to reflect on how to make their situation better and to get this knowledge to as many front liners across European and neighbouring countries in the Middle East as possible The book is premised on the underlying conception of refugee children as not merely a vulnerable contingent of the displaced Syrian population but one that possesses a certain agency for change and progress In this vein the various contributions aim to not just de securitize the conversation on migration that frequently centres on the presumed insecurity that refugees personify They also de securitize the figure and image of the refugee Through the stories of the youngest and most vulnerable they demonstrate that refugee children are not mere opaque figures on who we project our insecurities Instead they embody potentials and opportunities for progress that we need to nurture as young refugees find themselves compelled to both negotiate the practical realities of a life in exile and situate themselves in changing and unfamiliar sociocultural contexts Drawing on extensive field research this edited volume points in the direction of a new rights based framework which will safeguard the future of these children and their well being Offering a comparative lens between approaches to tackling refugees in the Middle East and Europe this book will appeal to students and scholars of refugees and migration studies human rights as well as anyone with an interest in the Middle East or Europe
