Tragic Hero in The Crucible

Arthur Miller's play The Crucible takes place of 1692. The final scene in the play is one of great tragedy. The final act reveals his heroic character. He sacrifices his life for his cause and exhibits such courage and honor that he must be regarded as a tragic hero.

...goodness, however, he has a tragic flaw. He has had a relationship with Abigail, one of the teenagers in Salem who practices witchcraft. His relationship with Abigail, followed by his rejection of her, makes accusations against Proctor's wife. His arrest as a witch. He is respected in the town but regards himself as a sinner and is unable to resist Abigail. Worse yet, his involvement with her leads to the hysteria that overtakes the town. His weakness leads to his downfall and the destruction of the community.

Tyranny of the Textbook Beverlee Jobrack, 2011-12-23 Educational reforms and standards have been a topic of public debate for decades with the latest go round being the State Common Core Curriculum Standards But time and again those reforms have failed and each set of standards no matter how new and different has had little impact on improving student achievement Why The textbooks Textbooks sell based on design and superficial features not because they are based on the latest research on how children learn and how well they promote student achievement In Tyranny of the Textbook Beverlee Jobrack retired from educational publishing sheds light on why this happens She gives an engaging and fascinating look behind the scenes of how K 12 textbooks are developed written adopted and sold And perhaps most importantly she clearly spells out how the system can change so that reforms and standards have a shot at finally being effective Did you know Reform efforts have focused on writing and rewriting standards and tests but these rarely have any effect on the core curriculum that is published School districts and states don't use effectiveness as a criterion for evaluating and purchasing textbooks Publishers don't offer textbooks with better content or the latest teaching methods because teachers don't want textbooks that require them to change their practices Teachers report that they don't rely on a textbook in their class but research shows that they do Three companies publish 75 percent of the K 12 educational materials Those three companies are producing similar programs with the same instructional strategies none of which require teachers to change their practices significantly Publishers write textbooks for California and Texas All of the other markets have to make do with books only superficially adjusted for their states

Sharp, 2002 Research in Education, 1972-05 The New Politics of the Textbook Heather Hickman, Brad J. Porfilio, 2012-10-13 In an age of unprecedented corporate and political control over life inside of educational institutions this book provides a needed intervention to investigate how the economic and political elite use traditional artifacts in K 16 schools to perpetuate their interests at the expense of minoritized social groups The contributors provide a comprehensive examination of how textbooks the most dominant cultural force in which corporations and political leaders impact the schooling curricula shape students thoughts and behavior perpetuate power in dominant groups and trivialize social groups who are oppressed on the structural axes of race class gender sexuality and disability Several contributors also generate critical insight in how power shapes the production of textbooks and evaluate whether textbooks still perpetuate dominant Western narratives that normalize and privilege patriotism militarism consumerism White supremacy heterosexism rugged individualism technology and a positivistic conception of the world Finally the book highlights several textbooks that challenge readers to rethink their stereotypical views of the Other to reflect upon the constitutive forces causing oppression in schools and in the wider society and to reflect upon how to challenge corporate and political dominance over knowledge production
