Machine Learning and Artificial Intelligence Jon-Lark Kim, 2023-11-15. Machine learning, ML, and intelligent systems are now comprehensively applied for the solving of practical problems. Emerging techniques such as big data analysis, deep neural networks, AI, and IoT have been adopted and integrated into the development and application of machine learning and intelligent systems and their wide application in industry, medicine, engineering, education, and other mainstream domains have made them a part of everyday life. This book presents the proceedings of MLIS 2023, the 5th International Conference on Machine Learning and Intelligent Systems, held as a hybrid event from 17-20 November 2023 in Macau, China. This annual conference aims to provide a platform for a knowledge exchange of the most recent scientific and technological advances in the field of ML and intelligent systems and to strengthen links within the scientific community in related research areas. A total of 80 submissions were received for the conference, of which 20 papers were selected for presentation and publication in these proceedings following a rigorous peer review process. Papers were assessed on originality, scientific/practical significance, compelling logical reasoning, and language. The selected papers cover a wide range of topics and provide innovative and original ideas or results of general significance in the field of ML and intelligent systems. Providing a current overview of developments in the fields of machine learning and intelligent systems, the book will be of interest to all those working in this field.

Measurement in Social Psychology Hart Blanton, LaCroix Jessica M., Webster Gregory D., 2018-10-25. Although best known for experimental methods, social psychology also has a strong tradition of measurement. This volume seeks to highlight this tradition by introducing readers to measurement strategies that help drive social psychological research and theory development. The book opens with an analysis of the measurement technique that dominates most of the social sciences: self-report. Chapter 1 presents a conceptual framework for interpreting the data generated from self-report, which it uses to provide practical advice on writing strong and structured self-report items. From there, attention is drawn to the many other innovative measurement and data collection techniques that have helped expand the range of theories social psychologists test. Chapters 2 through 6 introduce techniques designed to measure the internal psychological states of individual respondents with strategies that can stand alone or complement anything obtained via self-report. Included are chapters on implicit elicitation and diary approaches to collecting response data from participants, as well as neurological and psychobiological approaches to inferring underlying mechanisms. The remaining chapters introduce creative data collection techniques focusing particular attention on the rich forms of data humans often leave behind. Included are chapters on textual analysis, archival analysis, geocoding, and social media harvesting. The many methods covered in this book complement one another such that the full volume provides researchers with a powerful toolset to help them better explore what is social about human behavior

China and International Norms Mario Esteban, Yue Lin, 2023-07-21 This book explores the relationship between China and international norms through the lens of The Belt and Road Initiative BRI Presenting seven case studies this book highlights China's stances toward international norms that govern different international issues The case studies reveal that the normative function of the networks built under the BRI is limited and contains noticeable variations between domestic norms and international ones in China resulting in implementation gaps between rhetoric and deeds Unlike current literature on this issue which is scattered in terms of topics covered and methodology used it constructs a holistic theoretical methodological framework which can be utilized to study a State's position toward different international standards In light of China's increasing international influence and proactive and assertive foreign policy this study will be of interest to officials and practitioners involved in foreign policy and international cooperation and to student and scholars of global development and international relations

Civic Engagement in Food System Governance Alan R. Hunt, 2015-10-05 The local food movement is one of the most active of current civil engagement social movements This work presents primary evidence from over 900 documents interviews and participant observations and provides the first descriptive history of local food movement national policy achievements in the US from 1976 to 2013 and in the UK from 1991 to 2013 together with reviews of both the American and British local food movements It provides a US UK comparative context significantly updating earlier comparisons of American British and European farm and rural policies The comparative perspective shows that over time more effective strategies for national policy change required social movement building strategies such as collaborative policy coalitions capacity building for smaller organizations and policy entrepreneurship for joining together separate rural farming food and health interests In contrast narrowly defined single issue campaigns often undermined long term policy change even if short term wins emerged By profiling interviews of American and English movement leaders policymakers and funders the book demonstrates that democratic participation in food policy is best supported when funders incentivize groups to work together and overcome their differences
