Borrowed Gods and Foreign Bodies

Eric Reinders, 2004-11-15 To the Victorians the Chinese were invariably inscrutable The meaning and provenance of this impression and most importantly its workings in nineteenth century Protestant missionary encounters with Chinese religion are at the center of Eric Reinders's Borrowed Gods and Foreign Bodies an enlightening look at how missionaries religious identity experience and physical foreignness produced certain representations of China between 1807 and 1937 Reinders first introduces the imaginative world of Victorian missionaries and outlines their application of mind/body dualism to the dualism of self and other He then explores Western views of the Chinese language especially ritual language and Chinese ritual particularly the kowtow His work offers surprising and valuable insight into the visceral nature of the Victorian response to the Chinese and more generally into the nineteenth century Western representation of China

Teaching English Reading in the Chinese-Speaking World Clay

Williams, 2016-04-07 This book investigates inherent structural differences in the Chinese and English writing systems which predispose learners from childhood to develop specific literacy learning strategies which can impair later efforts at learning foreign language literacy if the foreign language script varies significantly from the native language script It compares educational practices and philosophies in Chinese and English speaking classrooms and examines the psychological underpinnings of these literacy learning strategies This book presents psychometric testing of adult reading strategy defaults and examines case study data revealing that Chinese students are susceptible to misapplying Chinese character level processing strategies to English word identification tasks which decreases reading efficiency and ultimately can lead to learning failure Finally a new educational framework is proposed for teaching beginning language specific word identification and literacy learning skills to learners whose first language script varies significantly from that of the target language
