Unitary Developmental Theory and Psychological Development Across the Lifespan, Volume 1 Myles Sweeney, 2022-11-30 This book introduces Unitary Developmental Theory (UDT) to the field of psychology. The first of two volumes, it introduces the UDT model and examines its application to psychological development and mental health recovery. The book presents a comprehensive model of UDT using 15 phases showing how this model can be applied to fields including psychoanalysis, cognitive psychology, and humanist psychology. It outlines how UDT was developed and can be used as an overarching model from which different schools of psychology can extrapolate, thereby offering improved structure for all types of interventions including mental health recovery. This book is designed to precede Volume 2, which details the model's equal applicability to organization development. Offering an innovative way of modeling developmental learning, this book will be of great interest to researchers, scholars, and postgraduate students in the fields of developmental psychology, applied psychology, and mental health recovery.

Identity and Lifelong Learning in Higher Education Jo Ann Gammel, Sue L. Motulsky, Amy Rutstein-Riley, 2019-12-01 Learning and identity development are lifetime processes of becoming. The construction of self of interest to scholars and practitioners in adult development and adult learning is an ongoing process with the self both forming and being formed by lived experience in privileged and oppressive contexts. Intersecting identities and the power dynamics within them shape how learners define themselves and others and how they make meaning of their experiences in the world. I Am What I Become: Constructing Identities as Lifelong Learners is an insightful and diverse collection of empirical research and narrative essays in identity development, adult development, and adult learning. The purpose of this series is to publish contributions that highlight the intimate connections between learning and identity. Our aim is to promote reflection and research at the intersection of identity and adult learning at any point across the adult lifespan and in any space where learning occurs: in school, at work, or in community. The series aims to assist our readers to understand and nurture adults who are always in the process of becoming. Adult educators, adult development scholars, counselors, psychologists, and sociologists, along with education and training professionals in formal and informal learning settings, will revel in the rich array of qualitative research designs, methods, and findings, as well as autobiographies and narrative essays that transform and expand our understanding of the lived experience of people both like us and unlike us from the U.S. and beyond. Volume One, Identity and Lifelong Learning in Higher Education, contains chapters by and about post-secondary educators and students. Together, these chapters enhance our understanding of the inextricable link between learning and identity.

Sport and Spirituality R. Scott Kretchmar,John B. White,2020-05-21 This comprehensive volume explores the interface between sport and religion or more broadly sport and spirituality While most of the contributions come from Western and Christian traditions the volume raises broader questions about the kinds of impact that spirituality can and should have on sport and equally that sport can and should have on spirituality The authors put forth an anti dualistic message one that argues against any vision of sport and religion existing in separate domains Mind interpenetrates body faith and love interpenetrate competition spirituality and the Divine can interpenetrate secular games This positive book has powerful implications for reforming contemporary sport particularly crass extrinsically driven win at all cost versions of competition It is a book about the incarnation the paradoxical existence of the spirit in the flesh love in competition the myth making power and meaning of games to engage the world transcendent hope found in kicking a ball around and how sport as a liturgy can mediate divine presence This book was originally published as a special issue of the journal Sport Ethics and Philosophy

The Political Economy of Business Ethics in East Asia Ingyu Oh,Gil Sung Park,2016-09-28 The Political Economy of Business Ethics in East Asia A Historical and Comparative Perspective deals with modes of ethical persuasion in both public and private sectors of the national economy in East Asia from the periods of the fourteenth century to the modern era Authors in this volume ask how and why governments in pre modern Joseon Korea modern Korea and modern Japan used moral persuasion of different kinds in designing national economic institutions Case studies demonstrate that the concept of modes of exchange first developed by John Lie 1992 provides a more convincing explanation on the evolution of pre modern and modern economic institutions compared with Marx s modes of production as historically specific social relations or Smith s free market as a terminal stage of human economic development The pre modern and modern cases presented in this volume reveal that different modes of exchange have coexisted throughout human history Furthermore business ethics or corporate social responsibility is not a purely European economic ideology because manorial market entrepreneurial and mercantilist moral persuasions had widely been used by state rulers and policymakers in East Asia for their programs of advancing dissimilar modes of exchange In a similar vein the domination of the market and entrepreneurial modes in the twenty first century world is also complemented by other competing modes of change such as state welfarism public sector economies and protectionism Compares Chinese Japanese and Korean business ethics from a comparative and historical context Explores recent theoretical approaches to capitalist development in modern history in non Western regions Discusses the theoretical usefulness of new institutionalism modes of exchange and neoclassical discussions of business ethics Evaluates historical texts in their own languages in its attempt to compare Chinese Japanese and Korean business ethics in the pre modern and modern times

Social Work with Children and Families Steve Rogowski, 2016-04-20 Professional social work has changed considerably over the last forty years coinciding with the demise of the social democratic consensus of the post war years and the emergence and now domination of neoliberalism Rather than the state through the government of the day ensuring citizens basic needs were met via the welfare state the belief in free market economics entails people having to be self reliant and self responsible This has involved social work with children and families moving from a helping and supportive role to one that is more authoritarian this often involving telling parents to change their behaviour and lifestyle or face the consequences This book outlines the development of social work with children and families over the period in question drawing on the author s unique practice experience and his extensive writings It charts the highs and lows of social work the latter including the dominance of managerialism which emphasises speedy completion of bureaucracy so as to ration resources and assess manage risk Despite this the argument is for a critical practice which addresses service users immediate needs while simultaneously aiming towards a more socially just and equal society This book is essential reading for everyone interested in social work including academics students practitioners and managers both in the UK and overseas Social care and allied professionals more generally will also find it insightful as will academics students and educators of social policy and related disciplines

Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 2003-12 Deviant Behavior Erich Goode, 2005 Germans and African Americans unlike other works on African Americans in Europe examines the relationship between African Americans and one country Germany in great depth Germans and African Americans encountered one another within the context of their national identities and group experiences In the nineteenth century German immigrants to America and to such communities as Charleston and Cincinnati interacted within the boundaries of their old world experiences and ideas and within surrounding regional notions of a nation fracturing over slavery In the post Civil War era in America through the Weimar era Germany became a place to which African American entertainers travelers and intellectuals such as W E B Du Bois could go to escape American racism and find new opportunities With the rise of the Third Reich Germany became the personification of racism and African Americans in the 1930s and 1940s could use Hitler s evil example to goad America about its own racist practices Postwar West Germany regained the image as a land more tolerant to African American soldiers than America African Americans were important to Cold War discourse especially in the internal ideological struggle between Communist East Germany and democratic West Germany Unlike many other countries in Europe Germany has played a variety of different and conflicting roles in the African American narrative and relationship with Europe It is this diversity of roles that adds to the complexity of African American and German interactions and mutual perceptions over time
