Lunar Sabbath Congregations:

Lunar and Solar Messianic Almanac, B.C. and A.D. 5680 and 5681. A.D. 1919, 1920 and 1921 Edward Samuel Niles, 1920

Religious Publishing and Print Culture in Modern China Philip Clart, Gregory Adam Scott, 2014-12-16 Scholarly interest in print culture and in the study of religion in modern China has increased in recent years propelled by maturing approaches to the study of cultural history and by a growing recognition that both were important elements of China's recent past. The influence of China in the contemporary world continues to expand and with it has come an urgent need to understand the processes by which its modern history was made. Issues of religious freedom and of religion's influence on the public sphere continue to be contentious but important subjects of scholarly work and the role of print and textual media has not dimmed with the advent of electronic communication. This book Religious Publishing and Print Culture in Modern China 1800-2012 speaks to these contemporary and historical issues by bringing to light the important and abiding connections between religious development and modern print culture in China. Bringing together these two subjects has a great deal of potential for producing insights that will appeal to scholars working in a range of fields from media studies to social historians. Each chapter demonstrates how focusing on the role of publishing among religious groups in modern China generates new insights and raises new questions. They examine how religious actors understood the role of printed texts in religion dealt with issues of translation and exegesis produced print media that heralded social and ideological changes and expressed new self-understandings in their published works. They also address the impact of new technologies such as mechanized movable type and lithographic presses in the production and meaning of religious texts. Finally the chapters identify where religious print culture crossed confessional lines connecting religious traditions through links of shared textual genres commercial publishing companies and the contributions of individual editors and authors. This book thus demonstrates how in embracing modern print media and building upon their longstanding traditional print cultures Christian Buddhist Daoist and popular religious groups were developed and defined in modern China. While the chapter authors are specialists in religious traditions they have made use of recent studies into publishing and print culture and like many of the subjects of their research are able to make connections across religious boundaries and link together seemingly discrete traditions. Truth

Versus Man's Religious Systems Terry W. McHenry, 2018-01-27 The book in overview is historical and instructional in content with the focus being on the Biblical text in terms of its original form and language and in consideration of its full and proper context linguistically textually historically culturally and literarily. It stresses the importance of moving from a knowledge of the Bible to an understanding of its life-giving instructions being studied in its entirety as a gift to mankind from a loving creator Elohim. The thrust of the book is accordingly threefold: An indictment of two of man's religious systems Judaism and Christianity for syncretism corruption of Elohim's written Word of truth and abuses of religious authority plus promulgation of religious traditions not aligned with the whole truth of Elohim's Word. A call to return to the one source of truththe written Word of Elohim understood in its originally written form and in its full and proper context Providing the equipping and study tools necessary to move from a mere knowledge of the Word to an understanding of its life giving instructionshow to live a redeemed life as Elohim intended for all mankind The Four Gospels, as Interpreted by the Early Church Francis Henry Dunwell,1876 The Israelite Samaritan Version of the Torah Benyamim Tsedaka, Sharon Sullivan,2013-04-26 Foreword by Emanuel Tov foreword by Steven Fine introduction by James H Charlesworth
