Life Orientation Grade1question Paper November2014:

Moral and Spiritual Leadership in an Age of Plural Moralities Hans Alma, Ina ter Avest, 2019-01-17 In crisis situations such as terror attacks or societal tensions caused by migration people tend to look for explicit moral and spiritual leadership and are often inclined to vote for so called strong leaders Is there a way to resist the temptation of the simplistic solutions that these strong leader offer and instead encourage constructive engagement with the complex demands of our times This volume utilises relational and dialogical perspectives to examine and address many of the issues surrounding the moral and spiritual guidance articulated in globalizing Western societies The essays in this collection focus on the concept of plural moralities understood as divergent visions on what is a good life both in an ethical aesthetical existential and spiritual sense They explore the political cultural context and consequences of plural moralities as well as discussing challenges possibilities risks and dangers from the perspective of two promising relational theories social constructionism and dialogical self theory The overarching argument is that it is possible to constructively put in nuanced moral and spiritual guidance into complex plural societies By choosing a clear theoretical focus on relational approaches to societal challenges this interdisciplinary book provides both a broad scope and a coherent argument It will be of great interest to scholars of social and political psychology leadership and organization religious studies and pedagogy

Language, Cognition and Gender Alan Garnham, Jane Oakhill, Lisa von Stockhausen, Sabine Sczesny, 2016-08-08 Gender inequality remains an issue of high relevance and controversy in society Previous research shows that language contributes to gender inequality in various ways Gender related information is transmitted through formal and semantic features of language such as the grammatical category of gender through gender related connotations of role names e g manager secretary and through customs of denoting social groups with derogatory vs neutral names Both as a formal system and as a means of communication language passively reflects culture specific social conditions In active use it can also be used to express and potentially perpetuate those conditions The questions addressed in the contributions to this Frontiers Special Topic include how languages shape the cognitive representations of gender how features of languages correspond with gender equality in different societies how language contributes to social behaviour towards the sexes how gender equality can be promoted through strategies for gender fair language use These questions are explored both developmentally across the life span from childhood to old age and in adults The contributions present work conducted across a wide range of languages including some studies that make cross linguistic comparisons Among the contributors are both cognitive and social psychologists and linguists all with an excellent research standing The studies employ a wide range of empirical methods from surveys to electro physiology The papers in the Special Topic present a wide range of complimentary studies which will make a substantial contribution to understanding in this important area
