Life Science Paper 2 Eastern Cape 2013:

Yearbook of International Organizations 2014-2015, Volumes 1a & 1b (Set) Union of International Associations, 2014-06-16 Volume 1 A and B covers international organizations throughout the world comprising their aims activities and events The Institutionalisation of Disaster Risk Reduction Gideon van Riet, 2016-12-01 The past three decades have seen a global shift in disaster management from an event driven response to a could be risk management approach Disaster risk reduction DRR has become entrenched as a dominant paradigm within the field of disaster management More than a decade after adopting DRR legislation in South Africa there remains a dearth of evidence that this has translated into substantive action This book examines the institutionalisation of DRR in South Africa conceived of as a political economy of knowledge production Using a critical theory approach the book does not consider why DRR is failing but instead asks why DRR As such it explores possibilities beyond DRR s narrow optic and offers new insights into disaster management through the lens of South Africa This is valuable reading for graduate students and academics working in disaster studies geography public policy and development post development studies as well as policy makers Integrating Indigenous and Scientific Knowledge for Sustainable Food Systems in Africa Saa Dittoh, Anna Bon, Hans Akkermans, 2025-04-25 This open access book presents a novel approach to food security research SDG 2 Zero Hunger by integrating indigenous and scientific knowledge Through extensive field based research in Burkina Faso Ghana Kenya Mali and South Africa it explores the impact of merging traditional practices and local knowledge with scientific methods Through field studies the book shows the value of local knowledge and community led innovations in combating hunger achieving food security and enhancing nutrition sustainably and food sovereignty Drawing on decades of research in rural Africa the authors introduce the Plug In Principle a theory for integrating indigenous and modern knowledge systems to foster sustainable agricultural practices and enriched food ecosystems in Africa The Plug In Principle advocates that advancements in science and technology should enhance rather than replace existing indigenous knowledge This principle emerged from the failures of many development interventions where attempts at replacement often led to challenges and failures In agriculture for instance interventions in mechanization soil amendments seed and breed improvements and extension services have seldom succeeded due to a lack of integration with existing practices The Plug In Principle emphasizes that effective knowledge integration hinges on a deep understanding and appreciation of prevailing systems By designing interventions that seamlessly plug in to existing technologies we can ensure the co creation of effective solutions to the challenges we face This book is a testament to the potential of collaborative innovation in fostering sustainable development Development workers policymakers researchers students and donor agencies in agriculture and other development areas will find this volume invaluable Additionally scholars focused on decolonization and indigenous knowledge in the Global South will uncover insightful case studies and analyses The African Food Environments Amos Laar, Kaleab Baye, Anna Lartey, Francis

Zotor, Gershim Asiki, 2023-09-05 In many respects the continent of Africa is in transition. Prominent among them currently is the nutrition transition. One consequence of the nutrition transition is the increase in prevalence of nutrition related non communicable diseases (NCDs) such as obesity, type 2 diabetes, cardiovascular diseases and certain cancers. Although NCDs are a global public health problem, the rate of increase in NCDs morbidity and mortality in some African countries is staggering. This surge has been linked to modifiable environmental factors, factors that facilitate the consumption of obesogenic, energy dense, nutrient poor foods rather than unrefined cereals, fruits and vegetables. It has long been recognized that the physical and social environments in which people live, work and eat are critical determinants of their health. More recently there has been a greater focus on the food environment as a key determinant of health. Available evidence shows that unhealthy food environments drive unhealthy diets and unhealthy diet is one of four main risk factors for NCDs.

Meat, milk and more: Policy innovations to shepherd inclusive and sustainable livestock systems in Africa Malabo Montpellier Panel, 2020-07-29 Meat Milk More Policy Innovations to Shepherd Inclusive and Sustainable Livestock Systems in Africa highlights options for sustainably promoting growth in the livestock sector drawing from what four African countries Ethiopia, Mali, South Africa and Uganda have done successfully in terms of institutional and policy innovation as well as programmatic interventions. By adapting these lessons to country specific contexts and scaling them up across the continent African governments can meet their national and international commitments to agricultural growth and transformation.

The Politics of Potential Michelle Pentecost, 2024-01-12 The first one thousand days of human life or the period between conception and age two is one of the most pivotal periods of human development. Optimizing nutrition during this time not only prevents childhood malnutrition but also determines future health and potential. The Politics of Potential examines early life interventions in the first one thousand days of life in South Africa drawing on fieldwork from international conferences, government offices, health care facilities and the everyday lives of fifteen women and their families in Cape Town. Michelle Pentecost explores various aspects of a politics of potential, a term that underlines the first one thousand days concept and its effects on clinical care and the lives of childbearing women in South Africa. Why was the First One Thousand Days project so readily adopted by South Africa and many other countries? Pentecost not only explores this question but also discusses the science of intergenerational transmissions of health, disease and human capital and how this constitutes new forms of intergenerational responsibility. The women who are the target of first one thousand days interventions are cast as both vulnerable and responsible for the health of future generations such that despite its history intergenerational responsibility in South Africa remains entrenched in powerfully gendered and racialized ways.
