affective i.e. uncanny state. Recent advances in robotic and computer graphic technologies in simulating aspects of human appearance, behaviour and interaction have been accompanied therefore by theorising and research on the meaning and relevance of the Uncanny Valley Hypothesis for anthropomorphic design. Current understanding of the uncanny idea is still fragmentary and further original research is needed. However, the emerging picture indicates that the relationship between humanlike realism and subjective experience and behaviour may not be as straightforward as the Uncanny Valley Hypothesis suggests. This Research Topic brings together researchers from traditionally separate domains including robotics, computer graphics, cognitive science, psychology and neuroscience to provide a snapshot of current work in this field. A diversity of issues and questions are addressed in contributions that include original research, review, theory and opinion papers.
