Identification and Citizenship in Africa Séverine Awenengo Dalberto, Richard Banégas, 2021-05-09 In the context of a global biometric turn this book investigates processes of legal identification in Africa from below asking what this means for the relationship between citizens and the state Almost half of the population of the African continent is thought to lack a legal identity and many states see biometric technology as a reliable and efficient solution to the problem However this book shows that biometrics far from securing identities and avoiding fraud or political distrust can even participate in reinforcing exclusion and polarizing debates on citizenship and national belonging It highlights the social and political embedding of legal identities and the resilience of the documentary state Drawing on empirical research conducted across 14 countries the book documents the processes practices and meanings of legal identification in Africa from the 1950s right up to the biometric boom Beyond the classic opposition between surveillance and recognition it demonstrates how analysing the social uses of IDs and tools of identification can give a fresh account of the state at work the practices of citizenship and the role of bureaucracy in the writing of the self in African societies This book will be of an important reference for students and scholars of African studies politics human security and anthropology and the sociology of the state Rethinking Third Places Joanne Dolley, Caryl Bosman, 2019 Ray Oldenburg's concept of third place is revisited in this book through contemporary approaches and new examples of third places Third place is not your home first place not your work second place but those informal public places in which we interact with the people Readers will come to understand the importance of third places and how they can be incorporated into urban design to offer places of interaction promoting togetherness in an urbanised world of mobility and rapid change Reframing the Urban Challenge in Africa Ntombini

Marrengane, Sylvia Croese, 2020-12-03 This book explores the changing dynamics and challenges behind the rapid expanse of Africa's urban population Africa's urban age is underway With the world's fastest growing urban population the continent is rapidly transforming from one that is largely rural to one that is largely urban Often facing limited budgets those tasked with managing African cities require empirical evidence on the nature of demands for infrastructure escalating environmental hazards and ever expanding informal settlements Drawing on the work of the African Urban Research Initiative this book brings together contributions from local researchers investigating key themes and challenges within their own contexts An important example of urban knowledge co-production the book demonstrates the regional diversity that can be seen as the main feature of African urbanism with even well accepted concepts such as informality manifesting in markedly different ways from place to place Providing an important nuanced perspective on the heterogeneity of African cities and the challenges they face this book will be an important resource for researchers across development studies African studies and urban studies The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com/books/e/9781003008385> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license The Bloomsbury Handbook of Gender and Educational Leadership and Management Victoria Showunmi, Pontso Moorosi, Charol

Shakeshaft, Izhar Oplatka, 2022-02-24 Drawing together diverse research perspectives and theoretical underpinnings this handbook explores gender as a social category and examines cultural and social differences Bringing together diverse perspectives from around the world including from Africa Europe the Middle East the UK and the USA the volume sets out the gender and educational leadership and management field providing a snapshot of the field as it stands signalling its development and directions for future development It offers focused reviews of empirical research on particular aspects of the field and presents new insights from research findings and methodological approaches
