Routledge Handbook of Sport Communication Paul Mark Pedersen, 2013 This text offers a survey of the discipline of sport communication The authors explore communication within through and for sport in all its theoretical conceptual cultural behavioral practical and managerial aspects tracing the contours of this expansive transdisciplinary and international discipline and demonstrating that there are few aspects of sport that don't rely on effective communications Including contributions from sport media and communications scholars and professionals from around the world the book examines emerging media social media traditional print broadcast and screen media sociological themes in communication in sport and management issues at every level from the interpersonal to communication within and between sport organisations and global institutions adapted from publisher's description

Against Individualism Henry Rosemont Jr., 2015-03-25 The first part of Against Individualism A Confucian Rethinking of the Foundations of Morality Politics Family and Religion is devoted to showing how and why the vision of human beings as free independent and autonomous individuals is and always was a mirage that has served liberatory functions in the past but has now become pernicious for even thinking clearly about much less achieving social and economic justice maintaining democracy or addressing the manifold environmental and other problems facing the world today In the second and larger part of the book Rosemont proffers a different vision of being human gleaned from the texts of classical Confucianism namely that we are first and foremost interrelated and thus interdependent persons whose uniqueness lies in the multiplicity of roles we each live throughout our lives This leads to an ethics based on those mutual roles in sharp contrast to individualist moralities but which nevertheless reflect the facts of our everyday lives very well The book concludes by exploring briefly a number of implications of this vision for thinking differently about politics family life justice and the development of a human centered authentic religiousness This book will be of value to all students and scholars of philosophy political theory and Religious Chinese and Family Studies as well as everyone interested in the intersection of morality with their everyday and public lives

Enhancing Learning through Formative Assessment and Feedback Alastair Irons, Sam Elkington, 2021-08-25 Assessment is a critical aspect of higher education because it has a range of powerful impacts on what staff and students do and how universities operate Underpinned by relevant theory and practical advice this fully updated new edition takes into account the changing expectation of students in the context of an increasingly complex and shifting higher education environment to promote the role of formative assessment and formative feedback and its impact on shaping the student learning experience Presented through the lens of contemporary perspectives empirical evidence and case studies across a broad range of subject disciplines this new edition aims to encourage teaching and support staff to focus on the promotion of student learning through designing and embedding high impact formative assessment processes and activities Key content covers the theoretical and philosophical aspects of formative assessment and formative feedback the learning environment in which students undertake their learning activities helping teachers develop appropriate formative assessment and provide effective formative feedback the impact of formative assessment and formative feedback activities have on learning teaching and assessment design as well as on the academic workload of tutors the contemporary issues and challenges currently driving research into formative assessment the use of technology in formative assessment and how different tools and technologies allow for the provision of effective and efficient formative feedback the benefits of understanding how students respond to formative assessment and formative feedback as an opportunity to review the effectiveness of the teaching and learning methods and techniques the integral role of formative assessment and formative feedback plays in postgraduate research settings and how innovations in formative assessment and feedback inform key developments in large scale assessment change Aimed at both experienced and early career practitioners in higher education this text is ideal reading for educators who wish to see a movement away from a higher education system driven by summative assessment to one where a more holistic approach to education positions learning standards rather than measurement and grades as central to effective assessment and crucially to return to a focus on student learners Home States and Homeland Politics Damla B.

Aksel,2019-03-28 This book draws on the literatures of transnationalism and diaspora studies to explore the ways in which the policies of emigrant sending countries have an influence on how emigrants politically engage on issues related to their homelands Drawing on over one hundred interviews with policy makers diplomats bureaucrats members of civil society and academics in Turkey France and the United States it offers a comparison of the engagement of Turkish migrants with political issues in Turkey in periods both before and after home state policies have been constructed with a view to engaging emigrants As such it will appeal to scholars of sociology and politics with interests in diaspora and the engagement of migrants with political issues in their countries of origin Law & Inequality ,2016 Austrian Studies Newsletter ,1989 Equal Opportunities Review ,2003
