

3. Marking points

3.1 Marking of lists

This applies to questions requiring a set number of responses, but for which students have provided extra responses. The general principle to be followed in such a situation is that 'right + wrong = wrong'.

Each error / contradiction negates each correct response. So, if the number of error / contradictions equals or exceeds the number of marks available for the question, no marks can be awarded.

However, responses considered to be neutral (indicated as * in example 1) are not penalised.

Example 1: What is the pH of an acidic solution?

[1 mark]

Student	Response	Marks awarded
1	green, 5	0
2	red*, 5	1
3	red*, 8	0

Example 2: Name two planets in the solar system.

[2 marks]

Student	Response	Marks awarded
1	Mercury, Venus, Earth, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune	0

3.2 Use of chemical symbols/formulae

For questions asking for chemical symbols/formulae, marks will only be awarded if the correct symbol/formula is given. If the question asks for a number of symbols/formulae, the student must give the correct number.

3.3 Marking procedures for calculations

Students should be awarded the marks for steps of the calculation completed correctly. An incorrectly calculated value that is used in a subsequent step will not be marked. The marks for the final answer will be given for a correct calculation, even if different units are used.

3.4 Interpretation of %

Answers using the word 'of' should be given credit only if it is clear that the 'of' refers to the correct subject.
