Melanie, Bird with a Broken Wing Beth Harry, PH D,2010-01-01      Melanie, Bird with a Broken Wing Beth Harry,2014-05-14 Professional insight on working with special needs families from a mom who s been on both sides of the desk      Childhood Disability, Advocacy, and Inclusion in the Caribbean Beth Harry,2019-10-04 This book presents an ethnographic case study of the personal motivations advocacy and activation of social capital needed to create and sustain the Immortelle Children s Centre a private school that has served children with disabilities in Trinidad Tobago for four decades Based on narratives by parents from the 1980 s current parents teachers community advocates and the author who was the founder of Immortelle in 1978 the study views the school within the context of a nation standing in a liminal space between developed and developing societies It argues that the attainment of equity for children with disabilities will require an agenda that includes a legal mandate for education of all children increased public funding for education health and therapeutic services and an on going public awareness campaign Relating this study to the global debate on inclusion the author shows how the implementation of this agenda would have to be adapted to the social cultural and economic realities of the society      Meeting Families Where They Are Beth Harry,Lydia Ocasio-Stoutenburg,2020 This book presents an in depth discussion of how human disability and parental advocacy have been constructed in American society including recommendations for a more authentically inclusive vision of parental advocacy The authors provide a cultural historical view of the conflation of racism classism and ableism that have left a deeply entrenched stigma one that positions children with disabilities and children of color as less valuable than others To redress these inequities the authors offer a working model of co constructed advocacy designed to benefit all families Because advocacy is not a one size fits all endeavor the authors propose meeting families where they are and learning their strengths and needs while preparing and repositioning families to empower themselves The authors intend to challenge us and they do They engage us in a secular liberation ethic That is why this book is important Rud Turnbull distinguished professor emeritus University of Kansas Of value to educators doctors parents and parent advocates this text purposefully centers the experiences of parents of color who have children with disabilities David J Connor professor emeritus City University of New York An enlightening and stimulating read for those committed to better understanding the complexity of the plight of parents of color as they attempt to advocate for the educational needs of their child with a disability Wanda J Blanchett dean Rutgers University Graduate School of Education      The Disabled Child Amanda Apgar,2023-01-10 When children are born with disabilities or become disabled in childhood parents often experience bewilderment they find themselves unexpectedly in another world without a roadmap without community and without narratives to make sense of their experiences The Disabled Child Memoirs of a Normal Future tracks the narratives that have emerged from the community of parent memoirists who since the 1980s have written in resistance of their children s exclusion from culture Though the disabilities represented in the genre are diverse the memoirs share a number of remarkable similarities they are generally written by white heterosexual middle or upper middle class able-bodied parents and they depict narratives in which the disabled child overcomes barriers to a normal childhood and adulthood. Apgar demonstrates that in the process of telling these stories which recuperate their children as productive members of society, parental memoirists write their children into dominant cultural narratives about gender, race, and class. By reinforcing and buying into these norms, Apgar argues, special needs parental memoirs reinforce ableism at the same time that they are writing against it.

Education Cheryl Hanley-Maxwell, Lana Collet-Klingenberg, 2011-08-04 This volume in The SAGE Reference Series on Disability explores education issues for people with disabilities and is one of eight volumes in the cross-disciplinary and issues-based series which examines topics central to the lives of individuals with disabilities and their families. With a balance of history, theory, research, and application, specialists set out the findings and implications of research and practice for others whose current or future work involves the care and/or study of those with disabilities as well as for the disabled themselves. The concise, engaging presentational style emphasizes accessibility. Taken individually, each volume sets out the fundamentals of the topic it addresses, accompanied by compiled data and statistics, recommended further readings, a guide to organizations and associations, and other annotated resources, thus providing the ideal introductory platform and gateway for further study. Taken together, the series represents both a survey of major disability issues and a guide to new directions and trends and contemporary resources in the field as a whole.

Bird with the Broken Wing Kathleen Kear, 2013-10 As little children, my brothers and I would climb up on our Grandma's bed and ask if she could tell us some stories. One of the stories most requested during visits was Bird with the Broken Wing. I can remember feeling sad that the big, beautiful Maple Oak and Elm Trees treated the poor little bird with the broken wing so nastily when it was probably scared and lonely. But thankfully, enough help was always around the corner with the Pine Fir and Juniper Trees coming to the rescue. Even as a little one, I decided that I wanted to be more like the Pine Fir and Juniper Trees, helping those in need. It is my hope that this little story will bless the next generations of little ones to come as much as it blessed me so very many years ago.
