Discrimination based on Colour, Ethnic Origin, Language, Religion and Belief in Turkey's Education System Nurcan Kaya, 2015-10-27 The Turkish government is urged to make a fundamental shift in its approach to education by Minority Rights Group International MRG in a new report A long standing focus on state building has been supplemented by increasing emphasis on religious teaching Both feature strongly in the education system in Turkey making schools a focus of discrimination The report Discrimination based on Colour Ethnic Origin Language Religion and Belief in Turkey s Education System reveals evidence of discrimination of minority groups and suggests comprehensive reforms to effectively ensure equality The national education system which for decades aimed to create young Turkish nationalists has in recent years become a vehicle for raising young religious Turkish nationalists says Nurcan Kaya Turkey Coordinator of Minority Rights Group International Religious education is compulsory from grade four in primary schools While some information on world religions has been introduced the emphasis remains on teaching Sunni Muslim religious practices Children of Jewish and Christian families may apply to opt out but the process can be cumbersome and in many schools alternatives are not provided for them Non Muslim students who have opted out can still find themselves having to remain in the religious instruction class or alternatively having to wander in the school corridor making them vulnerable to taunts from pupils and even teachers The opt out possibility is still not available to children of other minorities Another issue is mother tongue education In 2012 a new elective on the living languages and dialects in Turkey was introduced but due to various limitations minorities remain marginalised others in the education system Subsequent to the 2012 reform the report monitors discrimination in the formal education system in the period of the academic year of 2014 2015 The findings are based on the field work of the Monitoring Discrimination in Education Network an alliance of 16 organizations working in Turkey The report compiles numerous cases of discrimination based on language religion ethnicity skin colour and the level of income In order to bring about a fundamental solution to these problems in the education system the government must prioritise developing an approach that sees all groups as equal and that responds to demands for rights based on such an understanding of equality says Kaya The report highlights that Turkey has no anti discrimination law or an equality commission to which victims of discrimination can apply The existing legislation contains no effective and accessible means of judicial remedies or compensation Therefore many discriminatory practices are not reported to school administrations The entire education system is based on Turkishness Non Turkish groups are either not referred to or referred in a negative way says Kaya Education system has played a significant role in deepening conflict in society The positive representation of other groups in the education system would contribute to social peace and harmony In order to resolve the many problems in the education system that the current approach causes the overall aim of government education policy should be cleared of ideological references and the protection of children s best interests and the right to education in line with international standards should be considered its fundamental goal says the report

An Age of Accountability John L. Rury, 2023-10-13 An Age of Accountability highlights the role of test based accountability as a policy framework in American education from 1970 to 2020 For more than half a century the quest to hold schools and educators accountable for academic achievement has relied almost exclusively on standardized assessment The theory of change embedded in almost all test based accountability programs held that assessment with stipulated consequences could lead to major improvements in schools This was accomplished politically by proclaiming lofty goals of attaining universal proficiency and closing achievement gaps which repeatedly failed to materialize But even after very clear disappointments no other policy framework has emerged to challenge its hegemony The American public today has little confidence in institutions to improve the quality of goods and services they provide especially in the public sector As a consequence many Americans continue to believe that accountability remains a vital necessity even if educators and policy scholars disagree

Thinking and Acting Systemically Alan Daly, Kara Finnigan, 2016-05-19 This volume argues that districts are important as a lever for change given the limited success of school by school efforts Policies that focus on skill development recognize and support performance create opportunities for collaboration build leader capacity and create networks of knowledge sharing hold great potential for improving districts but it will require a paradigm shift in the way we view our public school system and those who work within it away from blame and toward complex systems change

How We Teach Science John L. Rudolph, 2019-06-01 Despite an enduring belief that science should be taught there has been no enduring consensus about how or why This is especially true when it comes to teaching scientific process John Rudolph shows that how we think about and teach science will either sustain or thwart future innovation and determine how science is perceived by the public
