Fontanarosa,Annette Flanagan,Philip Greenland,2024 Publication of biomedical research is essential for improvement and advancement of medical science and clinical practice The history of scientific publication including journals devoted to medical science dates to the 1600s The number of peer reviewed scientific journals is estimated to be in the tens of thousands and the number of journals especially with the increasing creation of open access publications continues to expand Yet despite the long history of and ubiquitous nature of scientific publications the core principles involved in biomedical publication as well as the specific skills of writing and manuscript preparation are not commonly taught in a formal or comprehensive way in medicine public health or research curricula Provided by publisher Cumulated Index Medicus ,1999 Springer Handbook of Science and Technology Indicators Wolfgang Glänzel,Henk F. Moed,Ulrich Schmoch,Mike Thelwall,2019-10-30 This handbook presents the state of the art of quantitative methods and models to understand and assess the science and technology system Focusing on various aspects of the development and application of indicators derived from data on scholarly publications patents and electronic communications the individual chapters written by leading experts discuss theoretical and methodological issues illustrate applications highlight their policy context and relevance and point to future research directions A substantial portion of the book is dedicated to detailed descriptions and analyses of data sources presenting both traditional and advanced approaches It addresses the main bibliographic metrics and indexes such as the journal impact factor and the h index as well as altmetric and webometric indicators and science mapping techniques on different levels of aggregation and in the context of their value for the assessment of research performance as well as their impact on research policy and society It also presents and critically discusses various national research evaluation systems Complementing the sections reflecting on the science system the technology section includes multiple chapters that explain different aspects of patent statistics patent classification and database search methods to retrieve patent related information In addition it examines the relevance of trademarks and standards as additional technological indicators The Springer Handbook of Science and Technology Indicators is an invaluable resource for practitioners scientists and policy makers wanting a systematic and thorough analysis of the potential and limitations of the various approaches to assess research and research performance Science

Dynamics and Research Production Nikolay K. Vitanov, 2016-08-01 This book deals with methods to evaluate scientific productivity In the book statistical methods deterministic and stochastic models and numerous indexes are discussed that will help the reader to understand the nonlinear science dynamics and to be able to develop or construct systems for appropriate evaluation of research productivity and management of research groups and organizations The dynamics of science structures and systems is complex and the evaluation of research productivity requires a combination of qualitative and quantitative methods and measures The book has three parts The first part is devoted to mathematical models describing the importance of science for economic growth and systems for the evaluation of research organizations of different size The second part contains descriptions and discussions of numerous indexes for the evaluation of the productivity of researchers and groups of researchers of different size up to the comparison of research productivities of research communities of nations Part three contains discussions of non Gaussian laws connected to scientific productivity and presents various deterministic and stochastic models of science dynamics and research productivity The book shows that many famous fat tail distributions as well as many deterministic and stochastic models and processes which are well known from physics theory of extreme events or population dynamics occur also in the description of dynamics of scientific systems and in the description of the characteristics of research productivity This is not a surprise as scientific systems are nonlinear open and dissipative
