

The background of the cover is a landscape photograph. It shows a wide, winding river or stream that flows from the middle ground towards the background, curving to the right. The river is a light, silty white color. On either side of the river are rolling green hills. The grass on the hills is a vibrant green, with some areas appearing slightly yellowed, possibly from sunlight or dryness. In the distance, there are some trees and a few small structures, possibly farm buildings, visible on the horizon. The sky is a pale, bright yellowish-white, suggesting a clear day with soft lighting. The overall mood is peaceful and natural.

The Sex Offender Register Terry Thomas, Daniel J. Marshall, 2021-04-12 The Sex Offender Register examines the origins history structure and legalities of the UK sex offender register and explores how political and public opinion has influenced the direction the policy of registration has taken Delving into the origins of the UK sex offender register and how the registration policy has evolved this book provides an understanding of the register and its contribution to public protection while attempting to see the register as a policy that has grown and developed and as having an organic life of its own The sex offender register is designed as a form of public protection rather than a punishment requiring offenders to notify the police of their circumstances and to accept a degree of offender management from the police The book puts the development of the register in its political social and ethical context considers the position of children and young people as offenders outlines the movement of registered offenders across international borders analyses how offenders can be removed from the register explores how other countries in the UK manage sex offenders through registers asks questions about the efficacy of the register and what contribution it makes to public protection looks at specific aspects of registration including the management of information delves into the experience of life on the register examines the influence of public opinion discusses the role of the police as custodians of the register and as offender managers Exploring the different pressures brought to bear on the register this book provides an authoritative starting point for police officers social workers probation officers magistrates students of Criminology Criminal Justice and Policing and the general reader wanting to understand where the UK sex offender register originated from and how it operates today

Approaches to Offender Rehabilitation in Asian Jurisdictions Chi Meng Chu, Michael Daffern, 2024-04-04 This book aims to understand how Asian jurisdictions conceptualise rehabilitation within both the correctional and forensic mental health sectors Little has been written about rehabilitation practices for people in criminal justice and forensic mental health services in Asia Although there is some recognition of the need to develop and or adjust rehabilitation practices for non white non western peoples in Western jurisdictions the extent to which Western derived practices have been considered adjusted or adopted in Asian countries is not well known This book includes contributions from an international team who explore the ways in which history culture religion and resources impact how rehabilitation is conceptualised and offered in multiple Asian countries It aims to provide an understanding of the relative merits of contemporary Western practices across different Asian countries and consider how these practices have been adopted and adapted within correctional and forensic mental health sectors This book is essential for administrators who are developing rehabilitation strategies and for practitioners working with people who have a history of offending behaviour
