Narratives Picture Sequences:

Developing Narrative Comprehension Ute Bohnacker, Natalia Gagarina, 2020-12-15 Comprehension of texts and understanding of questions is a cornerstone of successful human communication Whilst reading comprehension has been thoroughly investigated in the last decade there is surprisingly little research on children's comprehension of picture stories particularly for bilinguals This can be partially explained by the lack of cross culturally robust cross linguistic instruments targeting early narration This book presents an inference based model of narrative comprehension and a tool that grew out of a large scale European project on multilingualism Covering a range of language settings the book uses the Multilingual Assessment Instrument for Narratives to answer the question which narrative comprehension skills bilingual children can be expected to master at a certain age and explores how such comprehension is affected or not affected by linguistic and extra linguistic factors Linking theory to method the book will appeal to researchers in linguistics and psychology and graduate students interested in narrative multilingualism and language acquisition Reading Comprehension Difficulties Cesare Cornoldi, Jane V. Oakhill, 2013-04-03 Recognizing the characteristics of children with learning disabilities and deciding how to help them is a problem faced by schools all over the world Although some disorders are fairly easily recognizable e.g. mental retardation or very specific to single components of performance and quite rare e.g. developmental dyscalculia schools must consider much larger populations of children with learning difficulties who cannot always be readily classified These children present high level learning difficulties that affect their performance on a variety of school tasks but the underlying problem is often their difficulty in understanding written text In many instances despite good intellectual abilities and a superficial ability to cope with written texts and to use language appropriately some children do not seem to grasp the most important elements or cannot find the pieces of information they are looking for Sometimes these difficulties are not immediately detected by the teacher in the early school years They may be hidden because the most obvious early indicators of reading progress in the teacher's eyes do not involve comprehension of written texts or because the first texts a child encounters are quite simple and reflect only the difficulty level of the oral messages sentences short stories etc with which the child is already familiar However as years go by and texts get more complex comprehension difficulties will become increasingly apparent and increasingly detrimental to effective school learning In turn studying assimilating new information and many other situations requiring text comprehension from problem solving to reasoning with linguistic contents could be affected Problems with decoding dyslexia and language disorders have attracted more interest from researchers than have specific comprehension problems and have occupied more room in specialized journals Normal reading comprehension has also been a favorite with researchers However scarce interest has been paid to subjects who have comprehension difficulties This book is an attempt to remedy this situation In so doing this volume answers the following questions Does a reading comprehension problem exist in schools How important and widespread is the problem Is the problem specific How can a reading comprehension difficulty be defined and identified Does the syndrome have a single pattern or can different subtypes be identified What are the main characteristics associated with a reading comprehension difficulty When can other well identified problems add to our understanding of reading comprehension difficulties Which educational strategies are effective in preventing and treating reading comprehension difficulties What supplementary information can we get from an international perspective

Relating Events in Narrative Ruth A. Berman, Dan Isaac Slobin, 2013-06-17 This volume represents the culmination of an extensive research project that studied the development of linguistic form function relations in narrative discourse It is unique in the extent of data which it analyzes more than 250 texts from children and adults speaking five different languages and in its crosslinguistic typological focus It is the first book to address the issue of how the structural properties and rhetorical preferences of different native languages English German Spanish Hebrew and Turkish impinge on narrative abilities across different phases of development The work of Berman and Slobin and their colleagues provides insight into the interplay between shared possibly universal patterns in the developing ability to create well constructed globally organized narratives among preschoolers from three years of age compared with school children and adults contrasted against the impact of typological and rhetorical features of particular native languages on how speakers express these abilities in the process of relating events in narrative This volume also makes a special contribution to the field of language acquisition and development by providing detailed analyses of how linguistic forms come to be used in the service of narrative functions such as the expression of temporal relations of simultaneity and retrospection perspective taking on events and textual connectivity To present this information the authors prepared in depth analyses of a wide range of linguistic systems including tense aspect marking passive and middle voice locative and directional predications connectivity markers null subjects and relative clause constructions In contrast to most work in the field of language acquisition this book focuses on developments in the use of these early forms in extended discourse beyond the initial phase of early language development The book offers a pioneering approach to the interactions between form and function in the development and use of language from a typological linguistic perspective The study is based on a large crosslinguistic corpus of narratives elicited from preschool school age and adult subjects All of the narratives were elicited by the same picture storybook Frog Where Are You by Mercer Mayer An appendix lists related studies using the same storybook in 50 languages The findings illuminate both universal and language specific patterns of development providing new insights into questions of language and thought

Novel Perspectives on German-Language Comics Studies Lynn M. Kutch, 2016-06-15 Novel Perspectives on German Language Comics Studies History Pedagogy Theory gathers an international team of contributors from two continents whose innovative scholarship demonstrates a regard for comics and graphic novels as works of art in their own right The contributions serve as models for further research that will continue to define the relationship between comics and other traditional high art forms such as literature and the visual arts Novel Perspectives on

German Language Comics Studies is the first English language anthology that focuses exclusively on the graphic texts of German speaking countries In its breadth this book functions as an important resource in a limited pool of critical works on German language comics and graphic novels The individual chapters differ significantly from one another in methodology subject matter and style Taken together however they present a cross section of comics and graphic novel scholarship being performed in North America and Europe today Moreover they help to secure a place for these works in a globalized culture of comics This volume s contributors have helped create a new critical language within which this rapidly expanding medium can be read and interpreted Reading Visual Narratives Clare Painter,J.R. Martin,Len Unsworth,2013 Offers new descriptions of the visual strand of meaning in picture book narratives as a way of furthering the project of multimodal Discourse analysis and of explaining the literacy demands and apprenticing techniques of children s earliest literature

Development of Temporality in Children's Narratives Judith Ann Tanya Renner,1988 The Film Renter and Moving Picture News ,1922 The Bookman ,1913 Children with Autism Marian Sigman,Lisa Capps,1997 Attempting to make sense of the many features of autism at every level of intellectual functioning across the life span psychology experts Marian Sigman and Lisa Capps weave together clinical vignettes research findings methodological considerations and historical accounts The result is a compelling comprehensive view of the disorder as true to human experience as it is to scientific observation University of Florida Commencement Convocation University of Florida,1912 The Creative Intelligence and Modern Life Francis John McConnell,Frederick James Eugene Woodbridge,Roscoe Pound,1928 Episodic Structure and the Linguistic Encoding of Events in Narrative Virginia Ann Marchman,1989 Growing Up with Dick and Jane Carole Kismaric,Marvin Heiferman,1996 Growing Up with Dick and Jane is a nostalgic pop culture adventure that invites the millions of children who grew up reading with Dick and Jane to revisit the innocence of childhood For those who weren t lucky enough to have Dick and Jane as friends this entertaining and informative book traces the phenomenon from their birth during the Depression to their retirement in the turbulent 1960s Back cover Information Design Journal ,2000 Teaching Language Through Literature Modern Language Association Conference,1976 Sex Differences in the Growth of American School Children Edward Andrews Lincoln,1927 Our redcoats and bluejackets: war pictures, forming a narrative of the naval and military history of England from 1793 Henry Stewart (M.A.),1879 Arts in Education Edgar Norman Wright,Rosemary Elaine Young,Ontario. Ministry of Education,1986 Two interventions were studied in this project a drama program presented by three visiting drama consultants in five classes and a daily story reading period presented by the teacher in three classes and by the co investigator in another three classes The interventions lasted for 12 weeks Subjects were 325 first grade pupils from 21 classrooms in 9 inner city schools The purpose of the study was to see whether these interventions had any academic consequences The assessment procedures selected provided hard data that nevertheless reflected the humanistic thrust of the interventions The report suggests that the daily use of stories or the use of drama besides having intrinsic value contributes to academic achievement This increase was relatively modest and demonstrable when there was a direct link between the form of assessment and the existence of similar program elements Moreover it seems that there was a greater chance for demonstrable benefits in academic achievement with story telling than drama and that the chances for demonstrable benefits are greater with more inner city children BZ Narrative Picture Scrolls ,1973 Known as emaki and sometimes ekotoba these works contain pictures rendered on a handscroll which opens horizontally In many cases they also contain written explanatory comments kotobagaki and are designed to be viewed in sequence when unrolled from right to left The handscroll made its appearance very early in East Asian pictorial art and Japan s emaki are derived from Chinese models The many e ingakyo illustrated sutras of cause and effect produced in Japan in the 8th century reproduced the text of a Buddhist sutra on the laws of causation the Kako genzai ingakyo with appropriate illustrations and appear to be copies of Chinese originals International Journal of Comic Art ,2005
