Research Handbook on Intellectual Property and the Life Sciences Duncan Matthews, Herbert Zech, 2017-06-30 Intellectual property IP is a key component of the life sciences one of the most dynamic and innovative fields of technology today At the same time the relationship between IP and the life sciences raises new public policy dilemmas The Research Handbook on Intellectual Property and the Life Sciences comprises contributions by leading experts from academia and industry to provide in depth analyses of key topics including pharmaceuticals diagnostics and genes plant innovations stem cells the role of competition law and access to medicines The Research Handbook focuses on the relationship between IP and the life sciences in Europe and the United States complemented by country specific case studies on Australia Brazil China India Japan Kenya South Africa and Thailand to provide a truly international perspective

Occupational Safety and Hygiene VI Pedro M. Arezes, João Santos Baptista, Monica P. Barroso, Paula Carneiro, Patrício Cordeiro, Nelson Costa, Rui B. Melo, A. Sergio Miguel, Gonçalo Perestrelo, 2018-03-14 Occupational Safety and Hygiene VI collects recent papers of selected authors from 21 countries in the domain of occupational safety and hygiene OSH The contributions cover a wide range of topics including Occupational safety Risk assessment Safety management Ergonomics Management systems Environmental ergonomics Physical environment Construction safety and Human factors Occupational Safety and Hygiene VI represents the state of the art on the above mentioned domains and is based on research carried out at universities and other research institutions Some contributions focus more on practical case studies developed by OSH practitioners within their own companies Hence the book provides practical tools and approaches currently used by OHS practitioners in a global context

The Microbial Regulation of Global Biogeochemical Cycles Johannes Rousk, Per Bengtson, 2014-10-17 Global biogeochemical cycles of carbon and nutrients are increasingly affected by human activities So far modeling has been central for our understanding of how this will affect ecosystem functioning and the biogeochemical cycling of carbon and nutrients These models have been forced to adopt a reductive approach built on the flow of carbon and nutrients between pools that are difficult or even impossible to verify with empirical evidence Furthermore while some of these models include the response in physiology ecology and biogeography of primary producers to environmental change the microbial part of the ecosystem is generally poorly represented or lacking altogether The principal pool of carbon and nutrients in soil is the organic matter The turnover of this reservoir is governed by microorganisms that act as catalytic converters of environmental conditions into biogeochemical cycling of carbon and nutrients The dependency of this conversion activity on individual environmental conditions such as pH moisture and temperature has been frequently studied On the contrary only rarely have the microorganisms involved in carrying out the processes been identified and one of the biggest challenges for advancing our understanding of biogeochemical processes is to identify the microorganisms carrying out a specific set of metabolic processes and how they partition their carbon and nutrient use We also need to identify the factors governing these activities and if they result in feedback mechanisms that alter the growth activity and interaction between primary producers and microorganisms By determining how different groups of microorganisms respond to individual environmental conditions by allocating carbon and nutrients to production of biomass CO₂ and other products a mechanistic as well as quantitative understanding of formation and decomposition of organic matter and the production and consumption of greenhouse gases can be achieved In this Research Topic supported by the Swedish research councils programme Biodiversity and Ecosystem Services in a Changing Landscape BECC we intend to promote this alternative framework to address how cycling of carbon and nutrients will be altered in a changing environment from the first principle mechanisms that drive them namely the ecology physiology and biogeography of microorganisms and on up to emerging global biogeochemical patterns This novel and unconventional approach has the potential to generate fresh insights that can open up new horizons and stimulate rapid conceptual development in our basic understanding of the regulating factors for global biogeochemical cycles The vision for the research topic is to facilitate such progress by bringing together leading scientists as proponents of several disciplines By bridging Microbial Ecology and Biogeochemistry connecting microbial activities at the micro scale to carbon fluxes at the ecosystem scale and linking above and belowground ecosystem functioning we can leap forward from the current understanding of the global biogeochemical cycles Life Sciences Law Roseann B.

Termini,2007 Bioinked Boundaries Pratap Devarapalli,2025-05-23 This book presents a comprehensive and comparative study of the patentability of bioprinting inventions specifically bioinks and bioprinted tissues in the US the Europe and Australia It employs a two phase analysis to understand Is the patentable subject matter requirement a hurdle to patenting bioprinting inventions specifically bioinks and bioprinted tissues The first phase is a doctrinal analysis of the patent laws and jurisprudence in respective jurisdictions highlighting the similarities and differences in their approaches to the subject matter requirement The second phase is an empirical analysis of the patent prosecution data from patent applications filed in each jurisdiction with claims directed towards bioprinted tissues and bioinks revealing how patent examiners apply the patent provisions to accept or object to such patent claims The book offers several contributions to the field of bioprinting and patent law First it provides a detailed and up to date overview of the current state of the art and the legal landscape of bioprinting inventions Second it identifies the main criteria and factors that patent examiners use to assess the patentable subject matter of bioprinted tissues and bioinks such as the level of human intervention the markedly different characteristics and the industrial applicability Third it proposes patenting framework models for each jurisdiction which can assist patent applicants to draft and amend their patent claims in accordance with the patentable subject matter requirement Fourth it evaluates the potential benefits and implications of patenting bioprinting inventions for the bioprinting industry and society at large such as fostering innovation promoting public health and indirectly addressing ethical and social issues The main benefit that the reader will derive from the book is a deeper understanding of the patentability of bioprinting inventions specifically bioinks and bioprinted tissues in different jurisdictions and contexts The book will help the reader to appreciate the legal and technical aspects of bioprinting and patent law and how they affect the bioprinting industry and society at large

Discourse Analysis and Austerity Kate Power, Tanweer Ali, Eva Lebdušková, 2019-03-04 In the immediate aftermath of the global financial crisis of 2008 governments around the developed world coordinated policy moves to stimulate economic activity and avert a depression In subsequent years however cuts to public expenditure or austerity have become the dominant narrative in public debate on economic policy This unique collaboration between economists and linguists examines manifestations of the discourses of austerity as these have played out in media policy and academic settings across Europe and the Americas Adopting a critical perspective it seeks to elucidate the discursive and argumentation strategies used to consolidate austerity as the dominant economic policy narrative of the twenty first century Frontiers in Phytolith
