Transforming Higher Education in Asia and Africa Fred M. Hayward, 2020-03-01 Drawing on over fifty years of on the ground experience Fred M Hayward's Transforming Higher Education in Asia and Africa analyzes change processes in higher education in eight Asian and African countries. The twelve cases range from the push to upgrade and transform higher education in Afghanistan in the midst of a war to the successful struggle against apartheid in South African institutions as well as thwarted efforts in Sierra Leone and Madagascar. Providing both practical lessons learned and hope for communities globally, Hayward demonstrates that higher education change and even transformation, which is more fundamental and structural, can occur even in the most difficult environments. Successful transformation requires well-crafted strategic and budget plans with careful implementation, monitoring, and effective leadership at multiple levels. Yet also critical are a commitment to human development, a desire for freedom, and belief in democracy and recognition that high quality higher education is essential to national development.

Maliro, M.F.A., Abang, M.M., Mukankusi, C., Lung'aho, M., Fenta, B., Wanderi, S., Kapa, R., Okiro, O.A., Koma, E., Mwaba, C., Isse, M.M. and Bazile, D., Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2021-01-22

Quinoa (Chenopodium quinoa Willd.) is an emerging crop in the world with great potential to contribute to Africa's food and nutritional security. The increased popularity of quinoa in the last few years is attributed to the impact of activities carried out within the framework of the International Year of Quinoa (IYQ2013) which helped greatly to raise awareness on the crop's multiple nutritional benefits and its expanding cultivation globally. The Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) which championed the IYQ2013 has worked with developing countries in Africa which are grappling with food and nutrition insecurity to introduce and promote cultivation of quinoa. Production and utilization of quinoa is expected to significantly reduce food and nutrition insecurity and help farming communities adapt to climate change. FAO implemented a Technical Cooperation on quinoa titled Technical Assistance for the Strengthening of the Food System of Quinoa (TCP/SFE/3406) implemented in 2014 to 2015. This project was designed to support the institutional capacities of seven countries including Djibouti, Ethiopia, Kenya, Somalia, South Sudan, Uganda, and Zambia in the production, evaluation, management, utilization, and marketing of quinoa under diverse farming systems and agro-ecological zones. The project was implemented and led by the FAO Subregional office for Eastern Africa. SFE/Quinoa evaluation trials that were conducted across multiple sites in the participating countries served as pilot adaptability studies for the crop. This technical paper presents key technological, institutional, and policy considerations for the successful introduction, adaptation, and utilization of quinoa in Africa.

The African Food Environments Amos Laar,Kaleab Baye,Anna Lartey,Francis Zotor,Gershim Asiki,2023-09-05 In many respects the continent of Africa is in transition Prominent among them currently is the nutrition transition One consequence of the nutrition transition is the increase in prevalence of nutrition related non communicable diseases NCDs such as obesity type 2 diabetes cardiovascular diseases and certain cancers Although NCDs are a global public health problem the rate of increase in NCDs morbidity and mortality in some African countries is staggering This surge has been linked to modifiable environmental factors factors that facilitate the consumption of obesogenic energy dense nutrient poor foods rather than unrefined cereals fruits and vegetables It has long been recognized that the physical and social environments in which people live work and eat are critical determinants of their health More recently there has been a greater focus on the food environment as a key determinant of health Available evidence shows that unhealthy food environments drive unhealthy diets and unhealthy diet is one of four main risk factors for NCDs

... Approved Output Based Budget Document Malawi,2015 Fertilizer subsidies in Malawi: From past to present Benson, Todd,De Weerd, Joachim,Duchoslav, Jan,Masanjala, Winford,2024-02-12 Malawi has been at the center of the debate on agricultural input subsidies in Africa ever since it significantly expanded its fertilizer subsidy program about two decades ago When it did so Malawi was a trailblazer receiving international attention for seemingly leveraging the subsidy program to move the country from a situation characterized by food deficits and widespread hunger to crop production surpluses In this paper we trace the history of Malawi s subsidy program over the past 70 years describing how the country arrived at that watershed moment earlier this century and how the subsidy program has developed since We show how donor support for the program has wavered and how external pressure to remove the subsidy has repeatedly been unsuccessful We also demonstrate how over the years the program s total fiscal burden has fluctuated significantly However we find that since the expansion of the subsidy program in 2004 the fiscal costs of the program have shown little correlation with the maize harvest that same agricultural season We show that the subsidy program has succeeded in raising awareness about the value of the fertilizer for increased crop productivity However despite its continued prominence in the country s agricultural policy most Malawian smallholder do not manage to grow sufficient maize to feed their households throughout the year and every year millions
