of the region to spearhead operations in Afghanistan The 5th Special Forces Group Airborne SFG A was the Special Forces unit aligned with the region that included Afghanistan Then COL Mulholland the commander of 5th SFG A at the time stated that Special Forces lacked precise knowledge on Afghanistan because there had been little association with the country since the 1980s Only a few men had the regional and operational expertise required to conduct the operation in Afghanistan Gary Schroen a man about to retire from the Central Intelligence Agency CIA was the most qualified of a very small group Over the course of a career Schroen had developed extensive regional knowledge of Afghanistan and had personally dealt with many of the Northern Alliance commanders Had the timing of 9 11 been different Schroen could have retired and there would have been no one with the same ability within the federal government capable of executing the required mission The nation was lucky to have Gary Schroen Another example of luck is found in the British example of T E Lawrence T E Lawrence was already an accomplished scholar on Arabia when World War I erupted Lawrence escaped duties as a desk officer and became the most accomplished unconventional warrior of modern times by being a military advisor to the Arab tribes What is notable about both cases is that the person s regional expertise went largely unrecognized until a crisis manifested In the face of crisis what was largely obscure knowledge can become one of the most significant items in a military strategy It was only by luck that both nations had these types of individuals at hand at the right time The United States should not have to depend on luck to meet its national security needs
