Proust, Pastiche, and the Postmodern or Why Style Matters James F. Austin, 2013-08-28 Proust Pastiche and the Postmodern or Why Style Matters argues against the traditional view that Marcel Proust wrote pastiches that is texts that imitate the style of another author to master his literary predecessors while sharpening his writerly quill On the contrary James F Austin demonstrates that Proust's oeuvre and In Search of Lost Time in particular deploy pastiche to other ends Proust's pastiches in fact do things with words to create powerful real world effects His works are indeed performative acts that forge social relationships redefine our ideas of literature and even work against oppressive political and economic discourses Building on the speech act theory of J L Austin Jacques Derrida and J Hillis Miller and on the postmodern theory of Fredric Jameson this book not only elucidates the performative nature of pastiche but also shows that the famous Goncourt pastiche from In Search of Lost Time has attracted so much attention because it already attained the postmodern that is it eliminated temporal depth and experience transforming time itself into a nostalgic style of an era and into the sort of aestheticized surface that came to define postmodernism decades later To reflect this transformation of pastiche this work rearticulates its history in France around Proust Reconfiguring a scholastic classically inspired pedagogical tradition based on imitation and breaking with the dominant satirical practice Proust's work opened up possibilities in the twentieth century for a new kind of pastiche playful and performative in the literary field and postmodern in a French cinema that as with the Goncourt pastiche represents time as the visual style of an era whether unreflexively in heritage films such as Régis Wargnier's Indochine or discerningly in Eric Rohmer's Lady and the Duke which uses period pictorial and painterly conventions to illustrate how the representation of history onscreen typically flattens time into style

Figures of the Pre-Freudian Unconscious from Flaubert to Proust Michael R. Finn, 2017-07-25 This book examines nineteenth century debates over the existence of the unconscious demonstrating how they influence the writing of Flaubert Proust and others

Reading Backwards Muireann Maguire, Timothy Langen, 2021-06-18 This book outlines with theoretical and literary historical rigor a highly innovative approach to the writing of Russian literary history and to the reading of canonical Russian texts Anticipatory plagiarism is a concept developed by the French Oulipo group but it has never to my knowledge been explored with reference to Russian studies The editors and contributors to the proposed volume a blend of senior and beginning scholars Russians and non Russians offer a set of essays on Gogol Dostoevsky and Tolstoy which provocatively test the utility of AP as a critical tool relating these canonical authors to more recent instances some of them decidedly non canonical The senior scholars who are the editors and most of the contributors are truly distinguished The volume is likely to receive serious attention and to be

widely read I recommend it with unqualified enthusiasm William Mills Todd III Harry Tuchman Levin Professor of Literature Harvard University As the founder of the notion of plagiarism by anticipation which was stolen from me in the sixties by fellow colleagues I am delighted to learn that my modest contribution to literary theory will be used to better understand the interplay of interferences in Russian literature Indeed one would have to be naive to think that the great Russian authors would have invented everything In fact they were able to draw their ideas from their predecessors but also from their successors testifying to the open mindedness that characterizes the Slavic soul This book restores the truth Pierre Bayard Professor of Literature University of Paris 8 This edited volume employs the paradoxical notion of anticipatory plagiarism developed in the 1960s by the Oulipo group of French writers and thinkers as a mode for reading Russian literature Reversing established critical approaches to the canon and literary influence its contributors ask us to consider how reading against linear chronologies can elicit fascinating new patterns and perspectives Reading Backwards An Advance Retrospective on Russian Literature re assesses three major nineteenth century authors Gogol Dostoevsky and Tolstoy either in terms of previous writers and artists who plagiarized them such as Raphael Homer or Hall Caine or of their own depredations against later writers from J M Coetzee to Liudmila Petrushevskaja Far from suggesting that past authors literally stole from their descendants these engaging essays contributed by both early career and senior scholars of Russian and comparative literature encourage us to identify the contingent and familiar within classic texts By moving beyond rigid notions of cultural heritage and literary canons they demonstrate that inspiration is cyclical influence can flow in multiple directions and no idea is ever truly original This book will be of great value to literary scholars and students working in Russian Studies The introductory discussion of the origins and context of plagiarism by anticipation alongside varied applications of the concept will also be of interest to those working in the wider fields of comparative literature reception studies and translation studies

Reading Communities Oana Panaité, 2016-08-17 This volume is the product of a long term collaboration between French and American scholars who share a common preoccupation with reading canonical and contemporary works of literature and cinema in a theoretical and pedagogical context It offers a multipolar approach informed by different historical thematic aesthetic philosophical and formal perspectives that allows for a more complete and nuanced understanding of the complex relations between artists and works commonly separated by disciplinary boundaries The chapters cover a variety of literary genres and artistic forms such as the novel Madame de Lafayette Gustave Flaubert Andr Weckmann Ahmadou Kourouma Calixthe Beyala and Am lie Nothomb poetry Charles Baudelaire theater Aim C saire Anne H bert the aphorism Blaise Pascal the essay Andr Breton the manifesto mile Zola and film Fran ois Truffaut Ousmane Semb ne while also drawing parallels to works in other languages such as English and German in order to highlight the translingual and intercultural dimensions of the artistic process Cet ouvrage fruit d une collaboration entre universitaires fran ais et am ricains comportant aussi une dimension p dagogique propose un nouveau cadre pour articuler partir de
