Media Education Policy Paper David Buckingham 2001:

The SAGE Handbook of E-learning Research Richard Andrews, Caroline Haythornthwaite, 2007-07-10 I would like to enthusiastically recommend The SAGE Handbook of E Learning Research. An international set of authors have produced a highly readable handbook that covers topics in E learning research theory policy language and literacy and design issues. The work draws on multiple perspectives ranging from early work in asynchronous learning networks to community organization in e learning. This is a large and much needed work that organizes and illuminates issues in E learning in a way that readers will be able to take away practical advice for their own use. I am quite pleased to see this handbook that provides a very useful organization of knowledge for our field. John Bourne Ph D Professor and Executive Director The Sloan Consortium www.sloan.c.org. This book is an important contribution to the development of E learning because its account of the research always begins with the context of learning from which the exploitation of technology can be viewed. The authors help us understand that technology affords new kinds of relationship between the learner and what is learned and how it is learned. With this rich understanding the book is able to build the wide ranging research foundation on which the field can move forward. Diana Laurillard Institute of Education University of London. A comprehensive and compelling resource that provides a global perspective on a development that is transforming higher education. David Pilsbury Chief Executive Worldwide Universities Network. Unlike many how to books on the topic this work focuses on research for educators and others interested in how technology enhances or diminishes learning. Highly Recommended Choice Magazine. This handbook provides a state of the art in depth account of research in the rapidly expanding field of E learning. The first of its kind it provides reviews of over 20 areas in E learning research by experts in the field and provides a critical account of the best work to date. The contributors cover the basics of the discipline as well as new theoretical perspectives. Areas of research covered by the Handbook include Contexts for researching e learning Theory and policy Language and literacy Design issues History of the field. The editors introduction and many of the chapters show how multiple aspects of E learning interact. The introduction also provides a new model for researching the field. This book is relevant for everyone in higher education from undergraduate to faculty as well as university administrators involved in providing E learning. It will provide a research background for higher education including universities training colleges and community colleges. It will also be relevant to those involved in any research and developmental aspect of E learning corporate trainers and those involved in online programs at secondary school or in virtual high schools. Whether you are a lecturer researcher or programme designer this is an essential read. Richard Andrews is Professor in English at the Institute of Education University of London and Visiting Professor at New York University's Steinhardt School of Education Culture and Human Development. Caroline Haythornthwaite is Associate Professor at the Graduate School of Library and Information Science at the University of Illinois at Urbana Champaign. Media Education in Asia Chi-Kim Cheung, 2009-06-12 Media education in Asia is a relatively young but rapidly developing part of the curriculum Research has been conducted and papers have been written on various issues concerning media education in Asia The dominant models of media education in the world are broadly Western and most are drawn from English speaking countries The question is whether a similar pattern exists in Asia where there may be differences in culture heritage beliefs values education policy as well as curriculum and pedagogy Are educators in Asia following the Western model in developing and implementing media education or are they devising their own models With this question in mind this book sets out to understand the prevailing perspectives regarding media education in various Asian societies While most debates about media education are carried out in Western contexts this book hopes to provide a platform for readers to examine this issue in an Asian context Media Literacy Marjorie Heins,Christina Cho,2003
