Geological Carbon Storage Stéphanie Vialle, Jonathan Ajo-Franklin, J. William Carey, 2018-12-18 Geological Carbon Storage Subsurface Seals and Caprock Integrity. Seals and caprocks are an essential component of subsurface hydrogeological systems guiding the movement and entrapment of hydrocarbon and other fluids. Geological Carbon Storage Subsurface Seals and Caprock Integrity offers a survey of the wealth of recent scientific work on caprock integrity with a focus on the geological controls of permanent and safe carbon dioxide storage and the commercial deployment of geological carbon storage. Volume highlights include Low permeability rock characterization from the pore scale to the core scale Flow and transport properties of low permeability rocks Fundamentals of fracture generation self healing and permeability Coupled geochemical transport and geomechanical processes in caprock Analysis of caprock behavior from natural analogues Geochemical and geophysical monitoring techniques of caprock failure and integrity Potential environmental impacts of carbon dioxide migration on groundwater resources Carbon dioxide leakage mitigation and remediation techniques Geological Carbon Storage Subsurface Seals and Caprock Integrity is an invaluable resource for geoscientists from academic and research institutions with interests in energy and environment related problems as well as professionals in the field.

Finance & Development, December 2014 International Monetary Fund. External Relations Dept., 2014-11-26 This chapter emphasizes the importance of health policy and its implementation and connection to economic growth. The chapter also offers a different view of progress in the provision of better health facilities. The study looks at today's health systems the amalgam of people practices rules and institutions that serve the health needs of a population and at the economics behind them. The role good health plays in individuals and households ability to rise and remain above the poverty line is stressed. Several health reports are presented. Beijing from Below Harriet Evans, 2020-05-01 Between the early 1950s and the accelerated demolition and construction of Beijing's old city in preparation for the 2008 Olympics the residents of Dashalar one of the capital city's poorest neighborhoods and only a stone's throw from Tiananmen Square lived in dilapidated conditions without sanitation Few had stable employment Today most of Dashalar's original inhabitants have been relocated displaced by gentrification In Beijing from Below Harriet Evans captures the last gasps of subaltern life in Dashalar Drawing on oral histories that reveal memories and experiences of several neighborhood families she reflects on the relationships between individual family neighborhood and the state poverty and precarity gender politics and ethical living and resistance to and accommodation of party state authority Evans contends that residents' assertion of belonging to their neighborhood signifies not a nostalgic clinging to the past but a rejection of their marginalization and a desire for recognition Foregrounding the experiences of the last of Dashalar's older denizens as key to understanding Beijing's recent history Evans complicates official narratives of China's economic success while raising crucial questions about the place of the subaltern in history
